12	WTE	1840-11-04	It is with feelings of deep regret that we announce the death of Mr. Rozel Bailey, one of the earliest and most respectable inhabitants in this county. As he was returning homewards on the 23rd ult. with a two-horse team loaded with heavy iron castings for a saw mill, the horses, in the neighborhood of "Daggett's Hollow," ran off, Mr. Bailey, it seems, was sitting up on the wagon when it broke to pieces, and no doubt was dragged a considerable distance before the horses became disengaged from the fragments of the wreck. The body was taken up a short time after, but the vital spark had fled to Him who gave it. The remains, on the Monday following, were followed to the grave by a large concourse of citizens, who seemed deeply affected by the melancholy catastrophe, which has taken from our society a worthy member and much beloved neighbor.

31	NYD	1851-10-15	Patricide and Attempted Suicide - From The Springfield Republican - On Saturday noon last, Richard Walkley, Jr., living with his father, an old and respected citizen, on South Main-street, inflicted upon the latter a wound, with a knife, which his physician, Dr. Vaille, deems a fatal one, and also attempted his own life. The son has been a pest of society, and a terible pest in his father's family for years. He has been in jail repeatedly, and at the time of committing this foul deed, was under bonds to keep the peace - bonds, too, we understand, that we entered into by his father. The priciple cause of his villany was drink, which had been indulged in to such an extent as to make him savagely insane under its influences.

33	BAT	1852-05-13	Hon. Heman Allen. In our paper of last week we noticed the death of the Hon. Heman Allen. As his life was intimately connected with the history of Vermont, we think a brief biographical sketch will gratify his numerous friends throughout the state. He was a son of one of that illustrious band of brothers, the Allens, who made such noble efforts in the cause of Americann Indepedence, and was a native of the soil which was the theatre of their gallant deeds. he was literally a descendant of the Green Mountain Boys. His father, Major Heber Allen, brought off the Vermont Militia, after St. Clair, with a regular army, had retired from Ticonderoga, on the approach of Burgoyne; and subsequently in the battle of Hubbardton with the British, the fatigue and exposure in which, cost him his life. In the year 1795, at an early age, the subject of this memoir graduated at Dartmouth College, on which occasion, in the public exercises of "Commencement," he maintained the republican side in the politics of the day. He soon after embarked in his Uncle Ira Allen's business, and from that time to the year 1818, withstood successfully, and finally routed, one of the strongest and most unprincipled combinations of men, ever formed against an individual. In 1809 he was appointed Sheriff of Chittenden County, the affairs of which office he found in great confusion, but reduced them to order, and in two years declined a re-election. He was then appointed Chief Justice of the Common Pleas in Chittenden County, the affirs of which he managed with his usual ability, but at the end of two years declined a re-election. He was a member of our Legislature during the last war, and his works will show, that show that he was a firm supporter of it. it was he that introduced the resolution, giving to Commodore Mc Donough the farm at "Cumberland Head," in testimony of our high appreciation of his gallantry and good conduct in the battle on the Lake.

40	WO	1860-?-?	LIEUT. VASSALL. - Among the officers of the Fifteen Regiment reported as probably killed at Edward's Ferry, is Lieut. Bernard B. Vassall of Oxford, twenty-five years. He was second Lieutenant of company E. We can but hope the painful rumor of his death may be without good foundation, as ? his death we must mourn the untimely fall of a friend sincerely esteemed for his amicable qualities and praise worthy endevors as in life. Mr. Vassall was a native of Oxford, but has been a resident of Washington city, where his parents reside, and was in business in North Carolina, where he held the office of postmaster at the place of his residence. His kind disposition and excellent character gave him many friends and no enemies, and his early loss, however nobly the sacrifice of his life was rendered, will bring poignant sorrow to all whose fortune it was, like ours, to know him well. - Taunton Gazette [an erroneous report]

43	T	1862-04-30	A Puritan Relic - Mr. Oliver Willard of Charleston, now in his eightieth year, has an ivory snuff box, which was brought to this country by Joseph Willard a passenger in the May Flower. The box is 3 inches long, 2 inches wide and about half an inch deep, and is locked by two silver clasps, upon which are marked the initials "I.W." It has descended as an heir loom from Joseph Willard (father) to Joseph Willard (son) for 9 generations in this country and has never been out of the Willard family since 1620. How long it was in the family before Joseph Willard landed at Plymouth Rock is not known. It is quite a curiousity, and suggests many reflections. Although made for a snuff box, it certainly could not have been used for that purpose during the residence of the family in Plymouth Colony; and the "blue laws" of a later date made snuff a contraband abomination.

PITIFUL SCENES IN THE HOUSE OF DEATH. The Murderer Voluntarily Delivers Himself to the Police. AND IS LOCKED UP AT THE GRATIOT STREET STATION. Who and What He is and How He Appears. HE HAS NO WISH BUT TO FOLLOW HIS VICTIM. The Tortures of Jealousy, Terror and Remorse. - Last evening No. 240 Lafayette street east was the scene of one of the most shocking and cowardly murders ever perpetrated in this city. The victim was a young woman named Charlotte Pridgeon, aged 23 years, and the murderer one William Thomas Underwood, a sailor, aged 33. Underwood and the ill-fated gril had been acquainted with each other several months, and were betrothed. Recently Miss Pridgeon had shown considerable disinclination for Underwood's company, and although a day for their marriage had been twice agreed upon, she (according to the murderer) induced him to wait yet longer. On Wednesday last she engaged board at the house of Wm. Straight, 240 Lafayette street east, and last evening about 7 o'clock Underwood called to see her. He was admitted by Mr. Straight, but remained only a few minutes. Miss Pridgeon accompanied him out and walked several blocks with him. Upon their return to the house she bad him good night, at the same time rapping on the door. At that instant Underwood drew a knife, plunged it into her heart, and darted down Lafayette street. Mr. Straight in answer to the knock, opened the door, when Miss Pridgeon uttered a shriek and staggered into the hall saying, "I am struck - Iam dying. A man stabbed me." With these words she fell heavily to the floor and never breathed again, the blood meanwhile pouring in a torrent from her breast, and finally gathering in a pool upon the carpet where she lay. The moment he recovered from the shock given him by the dreadful spectacle Mr. Straight dispatched messengers in search of an officer . . .

76	DN	1874-03-07	FATAL FLIRTING. Charlotte Pridgeon Tantalized Her Lover. AND PAID FOR IT IN HER HEART'S BLOOD. A SAD STORY OF WOMAN'S FOLLY AND MAN'S WRATH. Some Strange Incidents of a Strange Courtship--A Sinless Liason. Last evening a shocking murder was committed at the house of Mr. Straight, No 240 Lafayette street east. The victim was Miss Charlotte Pridgeon, aged 23 years, who had been boarding at Straight's since Wednesday last. She was a sister of Capt. John Pridgeon, of this city. The murderer was William Thomas Underwood, a Englishman 33 years of age, who is by trade a sailor, and has also worked in shipyards in this city. Last evening about 7 o'clock Underwood called at Straight's house to see Miss Pridgeon. After being in the house a few minutes she asked him to go out and take a walk, to which he assented. After being out about an hour, they returned to the house, when she bid him good-night and rapped at the door. Underwood then drew a knife, and frantically stabbed her in the heart. He then ran into the street, and ran down Lafayette street to Antoine, and thence to Gratiot street, where he met patrolman E. F. Deitrich, and surrendered himself. A few second after Miss Pridgeon was stabbed, Mr. Straight answering her rapping by opening the door, when she staggered into the hall, gasping out: "I am dying. I am stabbed. That man killed me." Mr. Straight caught her in his arms, her blood welling out in a torrent from the gaping wound, and covering her dress and the carpet. She died in a few moments. The consternation of the family and some visitors then in the house may be imagined. After the news of the horrible deed spread around, the house was crowded with friends and relatives of the deceased, as well as strangers, attracted by a morbid curiosity. After she was laid out and cleansed from the blood that covered her breast and clothing, it was easy to see that Charlotte Pridgeon had been possessed of considerable personal attractions. She was tall and graceful, with a handsome face, and blonde hair and complexion.
77	AT	1874-03-08	CHICAGO, March 7 - A dispatch from Detroit says that W. T. Underwood of Cleveland, became enamored of Miss Anna Pridgeon [error, should read Charlotte Pridgeon], of Detroit. He proposed marriage, but was refused. Again offering himself and being again refused, he stabbed her to the heart, instantly killing her. Underwood's former wife, who had gained a divorce from him, had acquainted Miss Pridgeon with his character.

78	DF	1874-03-08	THE PRIDGEON TRAGEDY. Arraignment of Wm. T. Underwood for Murder. HIS EXAMINATION DOCKETED FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 13TH. Something More About His History. THE MURDERED WOMAN'S FUNERAL TAKES PLACE TO-DAY. The murder of Charlotte Pridgeon by William Thomas Underwood on Friday was the chief topic of conversation in this city yesterday. Such sudden and tragic ending of a human life could not be passed over lightly, and on the streets, in restaurants, in public offices, in all places where men congregate, it was a fruitful theme for discussion. The house where the dead body lay was besieged with visitors, most of whom were actuated by curiosity, but only a few were admitted. Underwood was taken from the Gratiot street station to the county jail about 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and from that hour until the doors closed for the night persistent interviewers sought his presence, filling the jail corridors and occasioning the good-natured officials any amount of inconvenience and tribulation. The prisoner was quite communicative, but he is not yet able to contro his emotions, and he weeps piteously, most of the time. At every mention of his victim's name he becomes frantic, and wishes that he had driven the knife into his own heart instead of hers. "I loved her, oh! I loved her," is his frequent exclamation, and the certainty that he shall look upon her face never more is a sharper stab than ever the consciousness that he is her murderer. In the course of conversation with him on Saturday Underwood stated to a reporter of The Free Press that his father, mother, four brothers and five sisters are all living in London, England, but that his correspondence with them has been mostly carried on through a cousin, Wm. Walker, whose address is No. 3 Grove Terrace, Bishop's Road, Bayswater, London, England. He went to sea whe a small boy, having seen his first service on board her Majesty's ship Countess of Durham, runnning from London to Malta and Constantinople. He came to America in 1860 . . .
79	DN	1874-03-09	THE MURDERER'S REMORSE - Underwood at Court and in His Cell - Trying to Starve Himself. William T. Underwood was arraigned at the Police Court on Saturday afternoon for the killing of Charlotte Pridgeon. Seeming to be in no condition to enter and intelligent plea for himself the court directed the pleas of not guilty to be entered., and his examination was set down for 2 o'clock on Friday next. He was taken from the station to the jail on Saturday forenoon, where he is now confined. He holds no conversation with his fellow prisoners whatever, keeping within his cell and pacing back and forth continually, though he is allowed the entire freedom of the corridor. Since the commission of the offense he has taken no sleep, and refuses any and all nourishment, seeming to have no desire to live. An attempt was made by the doctor last evening to give him sleep by the injection of morphine into his arm, but it failed to have the desired effect.
80	SE	1874-03-09	Chicago, March 7. - A Detroit dispatch says that Mr. T. Underwood, of Cleveland, who came here to reside some months ago, became enamored of Miss Annie Pridgeon [error, should read Charlotte Pridgeon], sister of the well known Capt. John Pridgeon, and one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies of Detroit. She rejected his suit, but one evening at his request, went to walk with him. On their standing at the door of her home he again offered himself, and she again refused, when Underwood instantly drew a knife and stabbed her to the heart, and rushing to the police station, and gave himself up. The wound was instantly fatal. Recently Underwood's wife had obtained a divorce from him, and had acquainted Miss Pridgeon with his character.

Underwood, of Cleveland, stabbed and instantly killed a Miss Anna Pridgeon [error, should read Charlotte Pridgeon], of Detroit, who is represented as one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies of the latter city. Miss P., who had been receiving the attentions of Underwood, had recently been made aware of his unworthy character through his divorced wife residing at Cleveland; impelled by the information received, Underwood's repeated offer of marriage was again rejected on the evening in question, whence the murderous assault. The murderer is in jail.

Mrs. B. was a member of the Christian church, and died expressing a complete and blessed hope beyond the tomb. Her funeral sermon was preached at the Seymour Lake church by the Rev. Five years since the slip was sent from California by an aunt of Mrs. Hodges. All who have seen it pronounce it a curiousity in every sense of the word.

173	WEA	1879-12-30	Mrs. Rankin Lewis - DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT OF WELLSBORO - Mrs. Sophia H. Lewis died at her residence in this village last Saturday night between eleven and twelve o'clock. She was the widow of Rankin Lewis, the printer of the Pioneer, the first newspaper published in this region. Mr. Lewis died on the 80th of October, 1838, leaving Mrs. Lewis no property and with two young daughters to support. But by her industry and thrift the widow thus left to her own resources succeeded, mainly by the aid of her needle, not only in supporting herself and her little family, but in purchasing the home in which she passed the remainder of her days. Her maiden name was Sophia H. Bliss, and she was born in Springfield, Mass., May 3, 1810, being in her seventieth yuear at the time of her death. She came to Wellsboro in September, 1826, and was married to Mr. Lewis March 5, 1829. She was the mother of four children - all girls - of whom two died in infancy and two - Mrs. M. Bullard and Mrs. O. Bullard, of this village - are still living. Mrs. Lewis was a woman of more than ordinary intellect and information, and was a bright, genial, interesting talker and a decided acquisition to any social circle into which she might chance to enter. She had long been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, - so long that she, remembered the church-going days when it was customary to carefully remove all ribbons and ornaments from the dress before entering the house of the Lord. Mrs. Lewis was a sister of William Bliss, of this borough, and of John Bliss, of Charleston. The funeral services will be held at the M.E. church this afternoon at 2 p.m.

A great deal is taught that is of no practical value. I think that the very best education a child can get at public expense the more a community is benefitted.

Bacon set the leg, and Mr. Willard was taken home in the evening. The prospects for a good leg agin are rather slim.
190	P	1880-05-05	S.C. Peters, of Boyd & Peter's show that is to give an exhibition in Pontiac to-day, came very near losing his life at Royal Oak last Wednesday evening. He was returning from Detroit with a load of corn, and when almost home the wagon capsized and he was buried under the load in such a way that he was unable to extricate himself. John Krepps, his night watchman, got uneasy over the prolonged absence of Peters, and about midnight started down the road to investigate, and had only gone half a mile when he discovered why his employer didn't return. Help was speedily summoned and Peters was taken out more nearly dead than alive. It was a very narrow escape.
191	P	1880-05-12	Boyd and Peter's combination of high sounding titles struck Pontiac last Wednesday and didn't create a very favorable impression. The street parade was like the horseflesh, thin, and while some parts of the circus were hard to beat, others didn't amount to much. We suppose that allowances should be made for the fact that the proprietors are young at the business and this was their 3rd or 4th stopping place.

Her story as told in court is too horrible for publication. Last Thursday S. C. Peters, A.W. 201	P	1880-08-04	During the rain, hail and thunder storm that passed over this place [Bailey Lake] last week considerable damage was done to the oats and corn crop, and several buildings. Mr. E. J. It will be remembered that this is the same Mr. Bailey that buried six of his children in one month two years ago. For the past four years Bailey Lake settlement has been visited by remarkable and destructive fires that can not be accounted for. One John Black, had his house burned, Ranson Johnson, Wm. Bailey, P. 267	MAR	1882-05-?	Death's Doings: During the period of last week, two good men died: H H Taylor, of Oxford in this county, and P Walsh, of Kingston, Green Lake Co. Both of them were lawyers and both had been long in the profession. In spite of all fortitude, faith or philosophy, it is a gloomy picture to look at. Death is a sad event at any time. But to write the obituary of a good and useful man, a special and particular friend, is the most unpleasant task that falls to the lot of a public newspaper. H H Taylor died on the morning of May 20th, of typhoid pneumonia, at the age of 56 years. This sickness followed a severe cold taken eleven days before his death. Mr. Taylor had lived in this county some twenty-eight years, and probably no man in this county was better acquainted, and no man ever lived in the county who was more deserving of a good name, and no man had earned for himself a better reputation. While Mr. Taylor has had some opponents, he had but few enemies. And the sole reason for his opponents and for his few enemies, was because he was a good and strictly honest. Such men are never liked by bad men. Some good men however, to our certain knowledge, have sometimes mistaken his real motives and merits. It is a sad thing and a great loss to have such a man die.

Mr. Wilkin has lately been closely scrutinized through the district as a candidate, and, strange to say, has stood the test without a blemish. His election to the district attorneyship will make no difference to the firm. Morton S. Bailey, who is not as well known to the people here, has been a silent partner in the firm for three months, and has inspired general confidence and made many friends in so short a time. Mr. Bailey comes from Pensylvania, beig a graduate of Lafayette college at Easton, Pa. He has been in Colorado about two years and a half, the greater part of that time being spent in the office of Hon. T. M. Patterson and Judge Markham in Denver. The practice he has had in the courts here has already shown him to be a competent and zealous advocate.

308	GR	1883-05-17	Mr. A. J. Rose, of Grayling, and one of Crawford county's most enterprising agricultural citizens, came up to Gaylord last Friday, and bought and shipped to his place about 100 bushels of hardwood ashes. Mr. Rose is not a theoretical but a practical, thorough-going farmer, and is trying experiments in making composts, using mixtures of ashes, muck, marl, salt and lime in different quantities to ascertain results best adapted to the nature and requirements of the soil on the plains in that county, of which he has purchased some 700 acres. He has great faith (with us) in the ultimate richness of that kind of land, and when properly handled and worked, it is found to produce the best of crops with the least manual labor, being a rich mellow soil, an admixture of silicious sand, clay, carbonate of lime, with more or less of oxide of iron, magnesia, and various salts, and also decayed vegetable and animal matter, giving proportionate fertility. There are scores of good farmers being attracted there from different parts of the State and country, being induced so to do by the splendid results that have been attained by a judicious, wise and thorough cultivation of that wonderful fruitful soil. - Otsego Co. Herald.

Mr. Rose then showed the party over the garden and farm and though this is but his third year, it has an air of thrift and productiveness equal to the best class of farms in the older portion of the state.

Fifty years ago, when it was customary for the Prothonatary to appoint the tipstaves for each term of Court, Mr. Cook occasionally got the job, and forty years ago he was regularly appointed to, the palce, and he has held the position ever since. Mrs. Lawrence is still quite active and she can see to read and sew without glasses, having gaier her "second sight." She laid aside her spectacles nearly twenty years ago. The firemen turned on the water but it was a long time before the flames were extinguished it being found awkward work to reach them. The back part of the house was burned down, and the roof was nearly burned off and the plastering was spoiled by the water. She was the daughter of Josephus Clark, who emigrated in an early day to this state from Mass., and was one of the pioneer settlers of Tioga couty, having settled in Rutland, where the subject of this sketch was born, May 18, 1824. She was the eldest of a family of eleven children, two, only, of which survive her, Mrs. Mary A. Clark Corey, of Stuttgardt, Arkansas, and Mrs. helen M. Clark Ingraham, wife of Capt. D. P. Ingraham, of Elmira, N. Y. She was the widow of S. S. Strait, late of this place, and sister to B. W. 771	WEA	1891-11-12	A Wellsboro Boy Highly Honored. The Denver (Col.) Daily News in speaking of the election of Hon. M. S. Bailey, briefly mentioned in the Gazette last week says "From the temporary wreck and ruin of Tuesday's election Hon. M. S. Bailey, of Fairplay, comes forth smiling a District Judge from the counties of Fremont, Custer, Chaffee and Park. Senator - soon to become Judge Bailey - either is or has a mascot that would be valuable to Democrats in the benighted county of Arapahoe. Last year, he was elected Senator on the Democratic ticket from the counties of Park and Fremont, both decidedly Republican in their politics, and this year he doubles his achievement and is elected Judge in four counties, every one of which is rock-ribbed in their fealty to the Republican party. Judge Bailey is in every way worthy of the favors the voters who know him shower upon him so lavishly. He is a big Bodied, big hearted, educated gentlemean, with a head full of law and good sense and a disposition to fairness that will make him one of the most successful judges on the Colorado bench. The News heartily greets Judge Mortimer [Morton] S. Bailey.

819	WEA	1892-07-13	DEATH OF JOHN W. BAILEY. HE EXPIRED SUDDENLY YESTERDAY MORNING IN THIS BOROUGH. Yesterday morning about seven o'clock Mr. John W. Bailey died very suddenly at his home on Pearl street in this borough. Although he had not been feeling well for several days his condition was not considered alarming and his death was quite unexpected by his friends. He had been in failing health for a year or more, but since his retur from the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, he had been feeling as well as usual. His trouble was of a dropsical nature and he suffered from insomnia. However, he was able to ride about town and greet his friends in his accustomed genial way as late as last Sunday afternoon. On Sunday he was troubled in breathing and went out for a ride. His physician was called and administered an opiate for his sleeplessness. Mr. Bailey rested well during the night and until nearly noon. On Monday afternoon he began to suffer from pain inn the abdomen. His condition soon became more alarming, and he seemed to realise, and so expressed himself, that the end was near. He passed peacefully away, retaining life faculties to the last. In the death of Mr. Bailey this borough loses one of its most genial and public-spirited citizens. He always had a warm, kindly greeting for his friends and he was always prompt to second with his energies and his ? any enterprise for the advancement of the business interests of the borough. Mr. Bailey was nearly 68 years of age. He was born on a farm in Charleston, which still belongs to his estate, November 27, 1824. He was the eldest of five children of Roswell Bailey who was oe of the pioneers of Dartt Settlement. His father took up a tract of land, and John helped to clear up the place and make the homestead. On Christmas in 1843 he married Margaret Lewis, and they lived together for forty years. She died in the fall of 1888. They had twelve children, and ten of the number lived to an adult age.

876	PG	1893-06-30	It is with a feeling of sadness we announce the death of Wallace Bailey, at his lovely home in Mahopac. The people with whom he passed his life will mourn his death as the loss of a good citizen, a man of moral worth, generous and enterprising in all that pertainjed to the moral, social and Material welfare of the community. His sicknes began June 9th in a trouble of the bowels, terminatin in the inflammation of the appendix, resultin in the formation of a limite abscess. His condition became critical when Drs. Galbraith & McCarroll, who were in attendance, called Dr. McLean, of Detroit, as counsel. After a thorough examination by the physicians it was decided that an abscess had formed and that the only chance of the life of the patient was an operation. Last week Tuesday Dr. McLean returned, when the operation was performed and proved the diagnosis correct. The operation was successful, but the patient did not possess the vitality to pass the ordeal. Mr. Bailey was the eldest son of Wilson Bailey. The father was an early pioneer and cleared up most of what is now Mahopac. Deceased was born in northern Independence June 3, 1842, and died June 23, 1893. He leaves a widow and three daughters, and an aged mother, who still lives on the farm where he was born; three brothers survive him, Wilson, Winfield and Norris, and a sister who lives with the mother. This sad event, the first cloud of sadness cast over their home and to the family, is a terrible affliction. Great as the loss is, the inheritance of a devote husband, a kind and indulgent father, who who devoted his life to the comforts of his family is left them as a consoling reward for the loss sustained. The funeral which was held at the residence last Sunday at 2:00 p.m., was the largest ever held in the county and is proof of the high esteem the people had for the deceased. Rev. F. C. Pillsbury preached an appropriate discourse, eulogistic of the deceased, and of the christians's hope.

1212	DA	1896-08-14	A call was made at the home of Mrs. E. F. Rose by a Clipper reporter on the first of the week to see her silk industry but found that the worms had already finished their days upon earth and only the cocoons and eggs remained to show what had been accomplished in the agriculture line in Farmington this season. Two medium sized rooms of the house were set apart for these creatures which were palced upon table-like shelves. They made about one hundred pounds of cocoons which appeared to be about equal to six bushels which have been sold other years for as much as $2 a pound, however, this year a bounty of twenty-five cents a pound will be added; she also has one and a quarter pounds of eggs which are valued at $3 an ounce. It requires from six to eight weeks for the silk worm to reach maturity, wind the cocoon, lay its eggs and die. Considerable labor is required to take care of these profitable creatures as they have to be fed five times a day besides needing other attention, nevertheless it is a very pleasant occupation and one that might busy a great many of our younng people. The lady deserves great credit for launching out in this worthy enterprise and it is to be hoped others in our county will follow her example.

1219	WEA	1896-09-23	At the head of the State ticket of the People's party and National Silver party of Colorado this fall is the name of Judge Morton S. Bailey, who is a Wellsboro boy well remembered by most of our citizens. The Lieutenant-Governor on the same ticket, by a singular coincidence, is Mr. Benjamin Clark Wheeler, another Wellsboro boy, who has achieved prominence in the West. Both these young men were teachers in our public schools at about the same time. Wheeler is a son-in-law of ex Governor Waite, of Colorado, and it is reported that he has made a fortune within a few years. "Mort." Bailey was elected to the Colorado Senate on the Democratic ticket, and in 1891 he was elected on the straight Democratic ticket as a District Judge. The ticket these young men are on is believed to be reasonably sure of winning this fall.

1221	GRE	1896-10-08	JUDGE MORTON S. BAILEY - Candidate for Governor on the Populist and National Silver Party Tickets - Judge Morton S. Bailey was born on a farm near Wellsboro, Tioga county, Pa., in 1855. He is therefore 41 years of age at the present time. At the age of 16 the family moved to Wellsboro and the young man graduated in the usual course at the high school. After following the avocation of school teacher a short time Mr. Bailey entered the classical course of Lafayette college at Easton, Pa., graduating in 1880. He immediately came to Colorado, where he has since resided. He entered the office of Judge Markham as a law student, completed a two years' course in the office of R. D. Thompson. He was admitted to the bar in August 1882, going at once to Fairplay, where he fortified a law partnership with Charles E. Wilker. The partnership continued until the fall of 1891, when Judge Bailey took the seat upon the district bench. The Eleventh judicial district, in which Judge Bailey presides, is composed of the counties of Park, Chaffee, Fremont and Custer. Prior to his election to the bench Judge Bailey was sent to the state senate from the old Fourteenth district, composed of Park and Fremont counties. He served one session, resigning to go upon the district bench. He was elected to the senate as a democrat in a district then largely republican. His majority in Park county, out of a total vote of 1,300 was 500. In 1891 Judge Bailey was elected to the bench upon a straight democratic ticket, although each of the four counties of the district was republican. In 1894 he received the joint nomination of the democratic and populists and was elected by a majoriaty of 1,200 in a district in which McIntire gained a small majority over Waite in the gubernatorial control. Although serving only one term in the state senate, Judge Bailey left an impress upo the laws of the state which will not soon be eradicated. He was the author and introducer of the information system, by which the necessity of grand juries was abolished.

1222	GR	1896-10-15	October 11th, 1896. This is the saddest day of my life. Warren P. Rose died Oct. 7th 1895 at Denmark, Lee County, Iowa. This mornings mail brought me the sad news of my brothers death. Oh how disappointed I am, as I expected him here in a few days. I anticipated the enjoyment of his association all winter, and expected he would remain with us the balance of his life, and now to have our hopes, our anticipations lost forever. My oldest brother, Isaac Rose, lost his life at Pea Ridge, Ark. in defense of our old flag and American homes, but that was the casualty of war, that he and I took at our risk, as all of our comrades know by experience. But now how different it seems, that in a time of profound peace with all nations, and no signs of war at home or abroad, that a life has gone out, and that life should be my brothers. It is the first death in our family since 1840, except the brother above mentioned. Warren P. Rose was born in Onondaga Co., N.Y., in 1826. Our parents moved to Illinois in 1833, our mother died in 1838, and in 1840 our father died, since which time our family has been hale and hearty. No Dr., to my knowledge, has ever been called to minister to any one of us. My brother, belonged to Grayling Chapter F. & A. M. He lived and practiced the Golden Rule and believed in the great brotherhood of man. His life went out like a candle, no regrets or complaint and no struggle. He is at rest. A. J. Rose.

1321	HON	1897-12-14	Mr. Charles M. Pepper publishes in the N.Y. Sun a long and carefully written letter on the leper settlement on Molokai. It is not only graphic, but unusually fair, and free from sensational incidents. Moreover, it shows the kind, parental and firm treatment of the unfortunates by the Government. There are many reasons why it should be republished in pamphlet form, and put before those in Washington, who have the determination of the treaty matter. Few correspondents have visited these Islands, who have done their work as well and conscientiously as Mr. Pepper has done his work.

The numbers given by Mrs. Woodworth, Misses Hanson, Hadley and McKenzie would be rapturously received by the most discriminating hearers, regardless of personal association. The duet: "O, that we two were Maying," by Mrs. Woodworth and Mr. McClennan, and the Quartet by Mrs. Woodworth, Miss Hanson, and Messrs. McClennan and Benkelman, were most warmly encored. We hope for more of like kind.

1335	GR	1898-02-03	RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT. At a special encampment of Marvin Post. No. 240, Grand Army of the Republic, held on Saturday evening, Jan. 29th., 1898, the following preamble and resolutions were presented and adopted: WHERAS, The Supreme Commander of the Universe, in his unquestioned wisdom, has mustered out of our ranks, Comrade A. J. Rose, a member of this Post, who formerly served in the 126th. New York Infantry, and who through his life did worthily honor the cause for which he fought, the memories we cherish, the flag we salute and the Grand Army to which we belong. Therefore be it RESOLVED - That while we bow in submission to his will, and mourn the departure of our comrade, we are pleased to feel and know that his earthly trials and tribulations are ended, and that he has gone to that country where the anger of cannon no longer burdens the air; where the gleam of sabre and bayonet no longer blinds the eyes, and where the passions of war is forever stilled; yet our heartfelt sympathy is given to the widow and children whose right it is to mourn. RESOLVED - That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the widow of our deceased comrade; that a copy be spread upon the records of the Post, and that they be published in the Country papers, as a mark of our fraternal regard. O. Palmer, R. P. Forbes, Com. H. Trumley.

1336	GR	1898-02-03	IN MEMORIAM. DIED - At his home in this village, Thursday, January 27th., Asa J. Rose, aged 71 years. Deceased was born in Onandaga County, N.Y., Dec. 21st., 1827. He was left an orphan at the age of eleven years, since when he depended on his own exertions to sustain himself, to rear his family, and to become as he did, a self respecting, and a respected citizen of this great Nation. Nature gave him a powerful constitution, and great natural ability, which he used to such advantage, that, though in his earlier years he labored under a load of friendless poverty, he obtained a liberal education, broader than that of many men, though less technical, and became a master of mechanic arts. A love of nature has ever kept him in close touch with agricultural pursuits, and he has long enjoyed the pleasure of agricultural experiments. He has lived in the rocky East, on the rolling prairies of the West, and amid the mining wilds of Mexico, with varied fortune, but ever sustaining the best of all, his manhood. When Secession threatened, he opposed it, and when Rebellion followed, he left home and family and all, a willing sacrifice, if need be, on the altar of his country. Only his comrades can know the life of those years in camp and field, in bivouac and battle, and in the prison pen, from which he came, yet strong, though broken, and took up again the taskes and trials of civil life, with the same courage of his convictions that marked him as a man unusually positive in every move. He came to this county in 1881, and made his home from which he was taken to his final rest, and had done much toward the development of this section. He leaves the wife of his youth and his manhood, three daughters and two sons to revere his memory. The service at the residence on Sunday, conducted by Rev. R. L. Cope, assisted by Rev. Mawhorter, Post chaplain, were very impressive, and he was buried by his comrades of Marvin Post, in accordance with their ritual, as he desired. Another comrade has been mustered out.

1338	NO	1898-02-11	Canonsburg, Pa., Feb. 5 - This town is in a ferment of excitement over the death on Thursday evening of Mrs. J. O. Whiteside, an old and highly respected member of this community. The old lady died in convulsions while being attended by faith curists, who, it is alleged, refused to call in a regular physician. A burial permit was refused by the authorities until the coroner had investigated the case. After a long and thorough investigation the coroner's jury last night brought in a verdict charging gross neglect against Rev. C. H. Pridgeon, Miss Ella McMillan and Mrs. Flora Holladay, who were in charge of the deceased, and recommending that they be made to answer in court for their neglect. Rev. Mr. Pridgeon is pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this place, and is a pronounced faith curist. Arrests are expected soon, and as all connected with the affair are prominent in social and religious circles great interest is manifested in the outcome.

1343	SP	1898-02-26	IT WAS SPANISH TREACHERY - Evidence Accumulating that the Explosion Which Wrecked the Maine Came from the Outside. Washington, D.C., Feb. 24. - Dispatches received from Chas. M. Pepper, its Havana correspondent, by the Washington Evening Star, at noon to-day, says that the divers are developing important results. From an examination of the interior of the Maine they have secured evidence which proves conclusively that the explosion came from underneath the ship. Some of the smaller magazines may have exploded, but the main 10-inch magazine did not. The condition of the interior of the ship shows further evidence of the wreck being due to outside force. The Spaniards will base their theory of an accident on the claim that a fire preceded the explosion.

1401	WEA	1898-12-14	Mr. Gideon s. Cook, died last Thursday at the county poor-house, where he had been for five or six years. He had been nearly blind for a number of years, but he retained all his other faculties to a remarkable degree for a person of such advanced age. he was a well-known figure about the courts in this county for about half a century, and he was highly esteemed for his kindly nature and his faithfulness in the discharge of his duty. Mr. Cook was of Irish parentage. He was born October 12, 1807, at Suffield, Connecticut. He came to this borough in 1828 and for some years worked at his trade as a carpenter and joiner and later at painting and paper-hanging. On May 15, 1830, he married Miss Philena Willard, daughter of Mr. Oliver Willard, who was one of the earliest settlers in Charleston township. The couple lived happily together for more than sixty years, but they never had any children. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cook were extremely fond of children, however, and they made their home a delightful resort for the children of the neighborhood. In 1850 Mr. Cook was appointed Court Crier, and after serving for a time in that capacity he was appointed a Tipstaff, and he served continuously in that station for more than forty years. It was only on account of his failing sight and feebleness that he was allowed to relinquish the position. Very soon after the death of his aged wife Mr. Cook was taken to the poor-house. Though he was then considerably more than fourscore, his memory was clear and his mind active, and he delighted to converse with his friends about "ye olden time" and recall anecdotes of those who long ago passed to the other shore. He calmly, patiently and hopefully awaited the summons to join that innumerable throng. His faith was firm in the future and his hope was joyous. The funeral was held last Saturday morning in the Presbyterian church.

He lighted the fuse and was about to throw the cracker, in the raodway, when he saw a horse and buggy approaching, and as he hesitated considerately, the great cracker exploded in his hand. Mr. Kingsley was removed immediately to the Cottage Hospital where his injury was treated and he was made as comfortable as possible. He has just finished his second year as a student in the Philadelphia Dental College, and it would seem that his injury would prevent his following his chosen profession. 1616	BO	5/21/1901	CUBAN SENTIMENT. Charles Pepper, the widely known correspondent, sends the New York Commercial Advertiser a very interesting letter from Havana, giving his observations respecting change of sentiment there during the past year. He was in the island for a long time after the occupation and has just returned to make an investigation of present conditions. On the boat there were a number of Cubans. One was a young man whom he met on his previous trip. This man has lived much in the United States because of his connection with the revolution. A year ago he was loud in support of absolute independence and talked patronizingly of what the Americans had done for the island. Now he calls himself an American and insists that the island be annexed. Another passenger was a woman who was violently anti-American a year ago. On this trip she devoted herself to proselyting among other Cuban passengers, insisting that there was no possible salvation for the island but through some kind of union with the United States. In Havana Pepper found many such changes of opinion, and he feels that a revolution in public sentiment is in progress. This indicates that the Cubans can see a thing when it stands before their eyes long enough.

1628	DA	7/5/1901	This has been a busy week for Mrs. E. F. Rose with her silk worms. These creatures devour something like thirty-five sacks of mulberry leaves a day which exceeds thirty-five bushels. Eleven hands are kept busy from morning unntil nearly midnight, gathering leaves, feeding and caring for the worms. After this week, however, the greatest rush will be over. Most of the worms have already commenced to spin cocoons and have quit eating. They remain in the cocoon about twenty days when they come forth in the form of a miller. A team was hauling oakbrush Monday and Tuesday for the worms to fasten cocoons to. Mrs. Margret Caine, one of the state silk commissioners, was up last week and said Mrs. Rose had the finest lot of silkworms she had ever seen. There are mulberryleaves enough in Farmington to support about three times as many silkworms as there are now. The leaves are gathered by clipping the ends of the branches off the trees. It is claimed the nature of the tree is such that cutting off the ends of the branches only makes the tree better for the next year.
1629	DA	7/12/1901	Mrs. E. F. Rose has begun harvesting the cocoons her silkworms have made. The oakbrush, that is placed on the shelves for the worms to fasten their cocoons to, is literally covered with these rich yellow balls of silk, which present a beautiful appearance. The brush is placed on shelves four by twelve feet, five shelves to each scaffold. There are five of these scaffolds. The worms were hatched out on the 18th of May and had practically all wound their little balls of yarn on July 9th. So it will be seen that the silk making season like the honey season is short.

Willard Marks, aged 27, who died last week Monday, at her house in Keeneyville, caused a feeling of sadness to fall upon this community, where she was much admired for her amiable disposition and near where she was reared and resided until married. Mrs. Marks was sick for about three weeks, the immediate cause of her death being peritonitis. She was married six years ago, the 18th of this month, to Mr. Lynn Marks, only son of Mr. C. H. Marks, of this place, when she and her husband immediately commenced to do for themselves, and moved to Keeneyville where they had employment and where they remained most of the time after their marriage. During the half dozen years of their wedded lives, love was the ruling power in their home - no discord to disturb their peace and destroy their happiness. Besides Mrs. Marks's husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Willard, and her three brothers, Alpheus who remains on his father's farm, Nathan, of Lamb's Creek, and Marion, of Wellsboro, and two sisters, Mrs. Clayton Bostwick and Miss Maud, survive her. 1749	AK	6/13/1902	OIL STRIKE AT FLORENCE. Large Body of Oil Struck at Over Two Thousand Feet In Depth. - Denver, June 10. - A News dispatch from Florence says: At 3 o'clock Saturday morning Messrs. Patterson and Irwin who have been drilling a well for the Consolidated Oil Company on the forty-care tract of land leased from Albert Williams, struck an enormous body of oil at a depth of 2,138 feet. The oil rose so rapidly in the hole it was impossible to drill any deeper. After several useless efforts in this direction the drillers decided to come to the city and report the matter to the Hon. Lee Champion, who is one of the board of directors of the company. Mr. Champion, accompanied by Fred W. Bailey, of Denver, drove out to the well at once. The halter was then runn steadily until 10 o'clock without reducing the height of oil in the hole, which persistently stood at a height of 1,100 feet. This well is located only 1,300 feet from well No. 270 of the United Oil Compandy which is one of the heaviest producers and bids fair to be its equal in every respect. It is in what may be termed new territory. It is close to the city reservoir and about three miles southwest of Florence. Judge Morton S. Bailey of the Eleventh Judicial district is president of the company. Harry Insley of Denver, who was a member of the Thirteenth General Assembly from Arapahoe county, is secretary. Fred W. Bailey, a brother of the district judge, is assistant secretary and treasurer, and was of the heaviest stock holders in the company. Everybody in Florence and vicinity is highly elated over this rich strike by an independent company and the lucky stockholders have been receiving congratulations from every side. Messrs. Patterson adn Irwin, the men who drilled the hole, are two of the oldest and most experienced and reliable men in this territory. They confidently predict that this will prove one of the largest producers ever struck in the Florence field. If this is the case it will be good for 300 barrels daily.

1813	GR	10/2/1902	DIED - September 28th., at the home of her daughter; in Savannah, N.Y., Mrs. Fanny Rose, aged 70 years. The sad news as above was received here Monday morning, and though it was known for some days that she was critically ill; yet the blow came as it always does with a crushing suddenness. Fanny Douglas was born in Savannah, where she died, April 27th., 1832, and was married to Asa J. Rose in 1851. After the war of the rebellion, through which the husband and father served with honor, while the patriotic mother cared for the little ones without a murmur, they moved west and in 1881 located in this village, where they have ever held prominent place in society and in the affections of our citizens until the death of Mr. Rose, in 1897. Since that time Mrs. Rose has divided her home life between the children here and those in New York. A number of years ago an accident rendered her unable to continue the full social life of the past, but the love of her many friends tendered her such kind attention as made her last years pleasant, even with the intense physical suffering at times endured. She leaves two brothers, and two sisters, and her children, F. B. Rose, of South Butler, N.Y.; Mrs. Ida Evans, of Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. Jeannette Woodworth, Grayling; Mrs. Katharine Evans, Savannah, N.Y., and Fred G. Rose, Waynesburg, Pa. 1900	WEA	4/1/1903	Mansfield's New Postmaster. Ex-County Commissioner Thomas H. Bailey received his commission as Postmaster at Mansfield last Thursday evening and he took possession of the postoffice on Friday morning. The contest over Mr. Bailey's appointment has been continued since midwinter and it has engendered which will be lasting in that community. After his recommendation there was a "hold up" on every turn, and two P.O. Inspectors were sent to investigate the case pending the issuing of the commission. Their report was evidently not such as to stop the regular order and Mr. Bailey is now properly commissioned for four years. There is a sensational report about an altercation and personal encounter between Mr. Bailey and the retiring Postmaster on Friday morning over the possession of the case and other furniture. Not having the facts at hand, we are unable to give details of the affair or its final adjustment. Anyway, Postmaster Bailey is in charge of the office and we assume that Mansfielders are getting their mail as usual. It was the most bitter postoffice feud ever know in the county.

1907	P	4/21/1903	DRAGGING FOR BODY - FRANKLIN BAILEY SUICIDED IN MUD LAKE SUNDAY - Independence Township Farmer Recently released from Asylum Committed Suicide - Franklin Bailey, who was discharged from the E.M.A. some time ago, committed suicide by drowning himself in Mud Lake, Independence township, Sunday afternoon. Bailey was confined in the asylum for several years and although not entirely cured when taken out, his wife persuaded the authorities to release him, although they protested against doing so for some time. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Bailey left his home, which is located in northeast Independence. He said nothing to any of the family and it was some time before he was missed. His tracks were traced to Mud Lake, a small body of water close to the Bailey farm, which has a depth of from 20 to 30 feet. When his so reached the lake, he saw a boat afloat on the water, but saw nothing of his father. The boat, which was ordinarily moored on the east side of the lake, had drifted to the west side. Monday a large force of men dredged the lake, but were unsuccessful. Bailey was about 50 years of age and leaves a wife and family.

1919	BR	5/7/1903	Ballard-Hillis. An interesting social event eagerly looked forward to by the many friends of the contracting parties, was the marriage of Miss Jessie Elizabeth Hillis, youngest daughter of Mrs. Jerusha Hillis to Mr. Oscar Burr Ballard, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Ballard and a member of the well known firm of Dewitt, Ballard and Handran, at the home of the bride on Tuesday evening last, in the presence of immediate friends only, but followed by a large reception. The parlor in which the ceremony was performed was tastefully decorated with cut and potte flowers, pink and white carnations predominated in the dining room, the same being the color scheme. Promptly at six o'clock the bride, leaning on the arm of the groom, entered, handsomely gowned and carrying a large bouquet of bride's roses tied with white liberty silk. They were precede by their friends Miss Nettie Bowen and Dr. L. E. Whitmer, of Newport, and the officiating clergyman, Rev. E. P. Morse of the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony was carrie dout with marked simplicity in acquiescence with the bride's wishes. After the ceremony and congratulations the party sat down to a collation, the nature of which can be imagined when known it was served by "St. Paul's guild" in their usual tasteful menu. At eight o'clock the guests began to arrive and were received at the door by little Misses Lucille Besley and Barbara Johnston, and in the parlor by the receiving party, afterwards they also repaired to the dining room to partake of refreshments, the color scheme, pink and white, being carried out as far as possible, and then up stairs to a room respendent with an array of presents, some of which were not only beautiful but of a costly nature, and bore testimony to the love and esteem of their large circle of friends. The list included a dining set, china cabinet, cut glass, silverware, napery, vases, candelabra, etc.

1921	P	5/7/1903	FOUND NO FOUL PLAY - OFFICERS INVESTIGATED THE DEATH OF FRANKLIN BAILEY. - BODY IN MUD LAKE - SUCH IS THE BELIEF OF THE OFFICERS. Rumors of Foul Play Were Not Substantiated by the Evidence in the Case. - Prosecuting Atorney Rockwell and Sheriff Brewster went to the home of Franklin Bailey northeast of Clarkston village to ivestigate the probable cause and manner of the death of Franklin Bailey who disappeared from his home Sunday, April 19. It is supposed he is dead from the fact that a broad felt hat which he wore, was found in shallow water i the little lake a few rods from the Bailey home. This week rumors have arisen to the effect that the alleged drowning of Bailey was heralded for a purpose and that there were circumstances which pointed to foul play. With such rumors afloat the officers deemed it their duty to investigate. So far as they were able to learn there was nothing suspicious regarding the disappearance of Bailey and they are of the opinion that his body still lies at the bottom of the lake. They offer in support of this that Bailey was weakened by illness and was exceedingly thin and that the water of the lake is unusually cold. It is argued that decomposition has not yet taken place sufficiently to form the necessary gases which will cause the body to rise to the surface of the lake. The Sunday afternoon that Bailey disappeared his wife and son were sick. The wife was in bed down stairs and Bailey had been with her. Looking out upon the lake he suggested the pleasure of a boat ride and expressed the wish that she would soon recover so that they might ride together. The wife fell asleep and slept over an hour. A son upstairs also slept. When they awoke they found that Bailey had disappeared. His tracks led to the lake. He had evidently left the house in his shirt sleeves and slippers. The finding of the hat in the lake and an old boat drifting almost to the opposite shore substantiated the theory that Bailey had rowed out onn the lake and had fallen in.

1922	P	5/8/1903	REMOVES ALL DOUBT - FOUL PLAY STORY PUNCTURED THIS MORNING. - Body of Franklin Bailey Drowned Apr. 19, Comes to Surface of Little Mud Lake. - The body of Franklin Bailey came to the surface of Little Mud Lake in Independence township this morning, therby putting an end to all rumors of foul play which have been circulated durinng the past few days. The theories advanced in the Press of Thursday seem to have been true the body simply having remained under water util such time as decomposition had advanced sufficiently to generate enough gas to send the body to the surface. Bailey disappeared from his home Sunday afternoon, April 19 while the family were asleep. The disppearance was noted within an hour and all manner of search was made to locate Bailey. His tracks led to the lake and the finding of a hat which he wore some days afterward confirmed the suspicion that he had either committed suicide or had fallen from the boat in which he had evidently gone for a row on the lake. When the body was found Dr. J. W. Fox of Orion, coroner, was summoned. He impannelled a jury and an inquest will be held. A party of searchers from this city went to the lake this morning where it was proposed to drag the lake again i the hope of recovering the body. While they were making preparations to begin work the body came to the surface almost in the center of the lake.

Dr. J. W. Fox was the coroner in the case. He made a post mortem examination and stated unhesitatingly that death was due to heart disease and that Bailey had not drowned as was supposed. It will be recalled that Bailey, who lived north and east of Clarkston, in Independece township, left home on Sunday, April 19. He had but recently returned from the asylum here, and was in very poor health. His family kept constant watch of and he was not supposed to leave the house without a companion. While the family slept Bailey slipped out of the house and went rowing o the lake, a few rods distant from the house. His heart was weak and it is supposed the exertion of rowing the boat was too much. He fell into the lake but was evidently dead before he struck the water as no water was found in his lungs. The body came to the surface of the lake on Friday of last week just as a party of searchers were preparing to drag the lake. The jury rendered a verdict that death was caused by heart failure.

1951	P	7/2/1903	DIED IN BATH TUB - SAD END OF MRS. FRANCESE HODGES IN DETROIT. Divorced wife of S. G. Hodges formerly Moved in the Best Society of This City. Mrs. Francese Freligh Hodges who formerly moved in good society died suddenly of heart failure Monday night in the rooming house of a doubtful reputation run by Mrs. Fox at 155 Wayne street, where she had been employed for six weeks as a seamstress at $5 a week. At about 6 o'clock in the evening she went to the bathroom and an hour later was found dead in the bathtub. The cause was heart failure. The sad circumstances under which Mrs. Hodges struggled at the close of her life will be a great surprise to her many former friends. The Hodges family in Pontiac has been for generations leaders of the city's social and business world. The old Hodges House now the oldest building in Pontiac which in its day has sheltered many famous characters was owned and run by the grandmother of the husband of the deceased. At the house where Mrs. Hodges was earning her living as a seamstress at $5 a week, they knew but little of her except they were greatly impressed by her education and refinement. Coroner Hoffman has ordered an autopsy. Mrs. Hodges was born in New Orleans about 49 years ago and came north with the Freligh family. When a young girl she became acquainted with Schuyler G. Hodges of Pontiac and was married to him at the age of 21 years. Later her husband moved to Detroit and was in the real estate business with Edward Coulter. They lived at 40 Charlotte avenue, a fashionable boarding house and her husband was owner with Homer Warren of the yacht Caprice and the family quite a devotee of the social whirl. Mrs. henry Perkins, wife of the Grand Rapids millionaire capitalist was entertained by her. Mrs. Hodges traveled considerably and her life appeared to be a very happy one until domestic difficulties arose. She sued her husband for a divorce and secured it seven years ago. Since then she has been living with her daughter, Miss Helen M. Hodges.

Williams, aged 66, widow of the late Mr. Philip Williams, of Mansfield, died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Carrie Faulkner Carroll, in Lincoln, Nebraska, on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Williams was a daughter of Rosel and Julia Bailey, deceased, and was born in Charleston March 4, 1838. She is the last of her family and is survived only by several nephews and nieces, among whom are Mrs. M. L. Bacon and L. L. Bailey, Esq., of the borough. He was the son of Norris and Belnette Lawrence, who a few years ago preceded him to the spirit world. Mr. Lawrence was married by the Rev. Joh Vankirk, at Roseville, Pa., to Miss Frances E. Brace, September 2, 1876. To this union was born one daughter, Lillian, who has reached the age of womanhood. he was an energetic and successful farmer, owning the homestead at Lawrence Corners, where he spent his whole life. He was a highly respected citizen, obliging neighbor, kind and indulgent father, and a faithful husband. He was held in much esteem in the township in which he lived, where he held the office of School Director a number of terms, which office he occupied at the time of his death, and was the Secretary of the Board. He was always interested in all that goes to promote honorable citizennship, and the public good. His home was a welcome place to ministers pf the gospel, where greatest respect was always shown and although not a professed Christian, he respected those who were. He was ever ready to lend a helping hand in times of sickness, and will be greatly missed in the exercise of his kindly office. During the sickness that resulted in his death, he expressed his faith in the religion of the Bible, and when the writer of this sketch quoted those passages pertaining to God's willingness to receive all who comes to Him through the atonement of his Son, he said he believed it. He said to his wife a few days before his departure: "Christ restorath my soul", and to his brother Charles he said: "The old way to heaven is the right way for me, and I have no faith in spiritualism." We have known him many years, being closely associated with him by matrimonial relations, having married sisters. We have always sustained the most friendly relations, having found him a true friend and an obliging and accomodating relative.

Well Known Orchestra Leader a Victim of Pneumonia. - Chicago, Ill., Jan. 4. - Theodore Thomas, the orchestra leader, died of pneumonia at his residence here early today. With him when the end came were his wife, his two sons, Hector W. and Herman Thomas, both of New York, and Charles N. Fay, his brother-in-law. He also leaves two daughters, Mrs. D. N. B. Sturgis and Mrs. G. H. Carter, both of New York. Mr. Thomas's last appearance was at a concert the day before Christmas. He was taken ill with the grip the same night and pneumonia developed last Thursday. Theodore Thomas was born at Eseus, Hanover, Germany, October 11, 1835. He received his musical education principally from his father, who was a violinist of ability, and at the age of 6 years he played the violin in public concerts. He came to this country with his parents in 1845 and settled in New York. He became first violin in the orchestra that accompanied Jennie Lind in 1850, Henrietta Sontag in 1852 and Grisi Mariol and other great opera singers. He finally became conductor of both German and Italian operas. Mr. Thomas gave his first symphony concerts in New York in 1864, and these were continued until he left that city in 1878 to take charge of the College of Music at Cincinnati. He remained in Ohio for two years, then returning directly to New York. He was elected conductor of the New York Philharmonic Society in 1879 and this position he held until he left New York in 1891. In 1883 Mr. Thomas and his orchestra made a tour from New York to San Francisco, appearing at all of the principal cities. He came to Chicago in 1891 and formed the Chicago Orchestra Association. On December 15, last year, Orchestral Hall, the permanent home of the Chicago orchestra, built at a cost of more than $500, 000, was formally dedicated.

He was seventy years of age. Theodore Thomas, who was the son of an expert violinist, was born at Eseus, Hanover, Germany, October 11, 1835. In 1845 his parent brought him to the United States, settling in New York City. Even at this early age the boy had created an impression as a violinist. A concert trip through the Southern cities in 1851 proved such a success that when Mr. Thomas returned to New York he became one of the first violins in concert and operatic performances during the engagements in America of Jenny Lind, Sontag, Grisi, and other great opera singers.

Pepper, the newspaper correspondent, who has been much in Cuba since the Spanish war, and who more recently has traveled extensively in South America, is mentioned for the directorship, although he is not an applicant. Senator Cullom and Speaker Cannon are understood to have spoken in his behalf. Mr. Pepper has many qualifications for the position. He speaks and writes Spanish, which is the language of nearly all the South American republics. He is also more or less familiar with South American people. Only a few months ago he returned from a long trip of observation through several of those countries, made in the interest of the proposed intercontinental railroad. He was one of the delegates from this country to the last congress of the American republics, held at the City of Mexico a couple of years ago. This afforded him additional opportunnity for becoming acquainted with prominent men from the far south. Another, whose name has not been made public, has been considered for the appointment, and the outcome is not yet certain.

Chicago, January 6. - The funeral of Theodore Thomas in James Episcopal church took place today with simple rites. By request of the family no floral offerings were sent. Denial of the Chicago Federation of Musicians' request to furnish a large band was made when it was decided not to hold an elaborate funeral and the Rev. S. S. Stone was even requested to refrain from a special sermon. Only the burial service of the Episcopal church was said. Although simple, the service was imposing by reason of the notable attendance of musicians and representative Chicagoans and assistance of the "wind choir" of the orchestra, which attended as an organization at the church and afterwards formed part of the cortege to the receiving vault at Graceland cemetery, where the body will be kept until forwarded for interment to New York.

2159	GR	11/2/1905	DIED - At his home in this village, Wednesday Nov. 1st Wm. M. Woodworth M.D., aged 76 years. The deceased was born at Pompey Hill, Onandaga Co., N.Y. in 1829, where his young life was passed until his graduation from the Academy at Elbridge, when he continued his studies at the University of Michigan, graduating from the medical department, with high honor, in 1853, since when his life has been devoted to his chosen profession. A close observer, and a thorough student, he has ever kept abreast with the times, and fully up to the wonderful advancement in medical and surgical science, being only satisfied to hold his position in the front rank, which he had early attained. He came to Grayling in 1882, and is therefore one of our oldest pioneers, and probably no man in the county had a wider acquaintance or was held in higher esteem: A man wonderfully sensitive, and with most tender sympathy, he has ministered to the needs of our people, regardless of self, and finding greatest joy in the relief of his suffering fellows. A thorough christian gentleman of the old school whose active life has been an elucidation of the principles he professed. He had lived his life, and blessed death, though sudden, came unfeared, and he has entered into rest. He had attended to his usual professional work on Tuesday, feeling in usual health, and made his last call in the evening, after which, with friends who called, and with his wife, the time until eleven o'clock was passed in pleasing sociality. Soon after midnight he was attacked though seeming slight, with gastritis, and a little after two raised to a sitting posture on the bed, and fell forward to the floor. Friends were called, but life was extinct when he was placed back upon the couch. Besides his wife and daughter Louise he leaves his oldest son, Charles, located at Larkspur, Col., Elmer, at Wheeling, Ill., and a daughter, Jennie, at New York, born of a former marriage, who will receive the deepest sympathy of our whole people.

2169	DJ	2/9/1906	Schuyler Gardner Hodges, a member of one of Pontiac's oldest families and widely known in Detroit, where his wife has been living for several weeks, blew his head off with a shot gun in the old Hodges home at Pine Lake Friday morning. Mrs. Hodges, who has been boarding at 85 Winder street, was notified of the tragedy soon after. She left at noon to take charge of the body. It is presumed Hodges was temporarily insane from melancholia. For three weeks he had been under the care of a physician. Mrs. Hodges says she knew her husband was worried but had no idea he was in a state bordering on insanity. "He had had trouble over the settlement of his mother's estate," said she, "and I think it preyed on his mind." Mrs. Hodges was anxious to have it made clear that she and her husband had had no differences. He had been living at Pine Lake for a time, she said, trying to adjust the estate question. "Mr. Hodges intended to join me in a few days," said Mrs. Hodges. The suicide was carefully planned, according to dispatches from Pine Lake. Hodges sat down in a chair, and resting his head against the barrel of the shotgun contrived to pull the trigger. The top of his head was blown off and the wall is spattered with blood and brains. Hodges was 49 years old. His father was Ira G. Hodges, who built the old Hodges house in Pontiac, which today is one of the city's leading hotels. His parents are both dead, and it was over Mrs. Hodges' estate that the trouble is said to have occurred. Hodges spent his early days in Pontiac and Pine Lake, where the family home has been in recent years. He married his first wife in Pontiac. About 15 years ago they were divorced. One daughter, Helen, is living in Detroit. The first Mrs. Hodges died in a rooming house in this city a few years ago, by her own hand, it is said. The present Mrs. Hodges was Mrs. Lizzie Avery of Detroit.
2170	DN	2/9/1906	Schuyler Gardner Hodges, aged 49, son of the man who built the Hodges House, Pontiac, and at one time a real estate man in Detroit, committed suicide at Pine Lake, Oakland county, this morning by blowing off the top of his head with a shotgun. Hodges had suffered financial reverses, and he had family troubles also. For the past two months he had been visiting his brother, George Hodges at Pine Lake. He was sitting alone in the dining room about 8:30 o'clock this morning when his sister-in-law heard the report of the gun and rushed into the room. Hodges had fallen over dead. His troubles had produced extreme melancholia, and it is said that he was practically deranged. Hodges was twice married. His first wife is dead. His second wife is now at 85 Winder street, Detroit. He is survived, also, by a daughter. Mrs. Hodges was formerly Lizzie Avery, of Cleveland, and is a sister to Fred S. Avery, manager and proprietor of the Euclid hotel in that city. She was completely overcome when the news of her husband's suicide was broken to her.

2171	DF	2/10/1906	Financial reverses and domestic unhappiness overwhelmed Schuyler G. Hodges, and he killed himself with a shotgun yesterday morning at his brother's house, at Pine Lake. The discharge entered his head. Hodges' first wife was dead. He had been separated for a short time from his second wife, who made her home in Detroit, while he stayed with his brother at Pine Lake. He had brooded over his dissatisfaction with the division of his mother's estate. Melancholia seized his mind and blotted out the thoughts of any possible solution of his troubles. After breakfast yesterday he sat down by the window. Left alone, he reviewed again the items in his account of life. He summed it up. His sister-in-law heard the report of the gun and rushed into the room. He was dead. Hodges was 49 years old. He was the son of Ira. G. Hodges, who built the Hodges house at Pontiac, and at one time was a real estate man in Detroit. The news was received by Mrs. Hodges, at her boarding place, 85 Winder street, with crushing effect. She tried her best to refute the statements made in Pontiac to the effect that the couple's married life had not been the happiest. She said that their marriage was the result of a love match and that they had always been happy. She told how she and Mr. Hodges had gone to the Klondike soon after their marriage and later settled on a ranch near Seattle. They came to Michigan when Mr. Hodges learned that his mother was dying. They again returned to Washington and remained there until a short time ago when matters in connection with the settlement of his mother's estate made it necessary for them to return to Detroit. She said that their recent separation had been merely owing to the fact that her husband had to be at Pine Lake to assist in the settlement of the estate. She knew that he had been under a physician's care but did not know that he was verging on insanity. Mrs. Hodges was formerly Lizzie Avery and is a sister of Fred S. Avery, manager and proprietor of the Euclid hotel, Cleveland.

2176	BR	1906-05-?	About 5 o'clock on Thursday morning May 24th, Welby W. Lawrence aged 47 years a long time resident of Roseville, killed himself by cutting his throat, following an attack upon his wife, during which he succeeded in badly woundig her. She was about to begin preparing breakfast for one of their daughters, when the assault was committed. She fought fiercely to free herself from her husband's grasp, but he cut two gashes three inches in length in her throat. Her right hand was also badly cut between the thumb and index finger as she strove to take from him the razor he was wielding, in an insane effort to take her life. Dr. O. S. Nye, who lives across the street from the Lawrence home heard the screams, and reached the scene as soon as possible. He found Lawrence unconscious, and went at once to work to stop the flow of blood. But vital spots had been reached by the razor blade, and in about half an hour Mr. Lawrence passed away. Dr. Nye dressed Mrs. Lawrence's wounds and had her removed to the home of her sister, Mrs. Anna Rose, where she is being given every possible care. Dr. Nye says she will recover, which is one fortunate phase of the very unfortunate affair. Mrs. Lawrence, previous to her marriage, was Miss Vinnie Benson, and is a daughter of Elijah Benson, a prominent Rutland farmer. Several weeks ago the county commissioners investigated Lawrence's condition, taking him to Wellsboro for a medical examination. It was determined that he was harmless, and he was allowed to return to his home. Besides his widow, he is survived by eight children - Edith, Lewis, Hobart, Mildred, Hannah, Ella and Rose, of Roseville, and Mrs. Hattie Fullwood, of Wellsburg; his mother, one brother, Dr. Frank Lawrence, of Washington, D.C., and four sisters - Mrs. George Baker, Mrs. Charles Richards, Covington; Mrs. Frank Luckey, Sylvania; Mrs. Clarence Rorapaugh, Ithaca, N.Y. The funeral was held on Sunday and was largely attended by relatives and friends, to whom goes out the sympathy of who knew Welby Lawrence.

B., 101st Pa] Editor National Tribune: I was much interested in the article written by Comrade John S. Howard, Co. K. 11th Vt., in your issue of Aug. 23, in regard to Andersonville Prison. I wish to corroborate some of the things he says, but like him, I am somewhat in the dark concerning some things that have been written in reference to that notable place. I was one of the Plymouth Pilgrims who registered at Hotel Andersonville on the 1st day of May 1864, after a week's sojourn on the way from Tarboro, N.C., packed in box cars like sardines in a box. In regard to the hanging of the six raiders, Comrade Howard is right as regards the man who broke away and ran down the hill and across the swamp in his endeavor to escape. I was standing near the edge of the swamp on the north side watching the hanging, and just after the six prisoners were brought in at the south gate and marched up to the gallows, which was erected on the brink of the hill about 20 yards from the entrance, one of the prisoners, a big, stout-looking fellow, after looking at the gallows, and doubtless for the first time being convinced that those in authority meant business, broke away and ran down the hill and across the swamp. It was with difficulty that he got through the swamp, the filth being almost knee deep. I remember clearly seeing him pull off his coat as he was plowing his way across the swamp, and when he reached the south side he found a gang of men ready to arrest his further progress, who marched him back to the gallows, in spite of his entreaties to be let go. In the meantime the other five men had been prepared for the gallows by being bound, and sacks put over their heads. As he approached the gallows he evidently became convinced that the trial had been a farce, and that they must all pay the penalty for the awful crimes they had committed. When all was completed the six men were marched up an incline plank . . .

Masius, in their rooms at 33 E street northwest, where, according to the husband's statement, the woman cut her throat from ear to ear with a large carving knife while he lay asleep on a bed in an adjoining room. Shortly after 5 o'clock last evening Masius rushed into the Sixth precinct police station, which is just around the corner from his home, and announced to the officers in charge that his wife was lying in a pool of blood in their room, having attempted suicide by cutting her throat. Capt. Byrnes, Lieut. Hodgers, and several patrolmen accompanied Masius to his rooms, an ambulance call having been sent to the Casualty Hospital in the meantime. They discovered Mrs. Masius on the floor of the rear room, but partly dressed, blood gushing from a gaping wound in her neck, and a large bone-handled carving knife clutched tightly in her right hand. It was seen that the woman was still alive, and Dr. Beltzell, of the Casualty Hospital, immediately attempted to stop the flow of blood, but without success. Mrs. Masius died about twenty minutes after the arrival of the police and ambulance. The blood bespattered walss indicated that the woman had wandered about the room before falling unconscious to the floor. 2262	WEA	8/28/1907	A YOUTHFUL HEROINE - Eleven-Year-Old Edith Smith Saved Sister From Burning House. Narrow Escape of Children Alone in a Delmar Dwelling While Parents Were in Town. - Edith, the 11-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Smith, of Delmar, saved her sleeping baby sister from death last Saturday morning about 11 o'clock, when the Smith home, on the Dantz run road, route, No. 7, was burned to the ground with its contents. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were in Wellsboro shopping, and left their children at home, Edith being the oldest, and the baby girl, less than one year old, the youngest. Shortly before 11 o'clock the children started a fire to prepare dinner in the stove in the summer kitchen which is connected to the chimney by a pipe that goes through a partition. This pipe, it is thought, became overheated and caused the fire, as the chimney was double bricked and perfectly sound. But when the house caught fire there was nobody in the kitchen and the house was beyond saving when the blaze was discovered. The baby was asleep upstairs and it was with difficulty that Edith groped her way through the dense smoke and succeeded in rescuing the little one. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, when they heard that their home was in flames, hired an automobile and started for home but the "bubble" broke near the Henry Smith farm and Mr. Smith took them on with his team, the auto being "down and out" for the time being. The home was completely destroyed with all its contents, including a new $400 piano. Mr. Smith had $650 insurance on the house, but nothing on the contents. His loss is easily $2,000. He bought the farm about a year ago of Mr. Eli Simmonds. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith express sincere sympathy in their loss, and everybody admiration for the coolness and heroism of their daughter, Edith.

2427	EA	10/16/1908	Hon. Morton S. Bailey, whose likeness you see before you, was born at Wellsboro, Pa., in 1855, and in 1880 graduated from Lafayette College. He came to Colorado at once after getting his degree and in 1882 was admitted to the bar. He began the practice of his chosen profession at Fairplay, Colorado, where he was elected Mayor for two successive terms. After that he was sent to the State Assembly to represent in the senate the people from the Fourteenth senatorial district, composed of Fremont and Park counties. In the fall of 1892 he was elected judge of that district and has occupied that position ever since. This was remarkable because of the fact that at the time he was elected the first time it was a Republican district and his popularity was such that it cut down the Republican majority for the rest of the ticket and when he was again placed before the people of that district two years ago the Republicans did not put up a candidate against him. Judge Bailey's judicial ability is unquestioned. His integrity, clear judgment and powerful personality will make him a commanding figure upon the Supreme bench of this State. The people of Colorado are in need of judges of the kind such as Judge Bailey is and this very year they are going to put their stamp of approval upon him. He is now well known all over Colorado and highly respected because of his high ability and sterling qualities as a jurist, a leader and a manly man.

2565	FA	12/10/1909	OUR NEW SUPREME COURT. The decisions of the State Supreme Court during this year cast a ray of brightest light over Colorado, that is in marked contrast to the shadows that have dimmed the sun for several years past, and the point in which Park county takes particular pride is the fact that our former citizen, and always most highly esteemed friend, Morton S. Bailey, now one of the respected Justices of this Court, is one of the leading spirits that have made possible the eminently fair decisions rendered. Judge Bailey located in Fairplay and hung out his shingle as a lawyer some thirty years ago, when he was a mere boy. Since that time his progress has been steady. He at once took his place as a lawyer of marked ability and a man of unusual depth. he gained and has held the highest respect of the people, not only of Park county, but of Colorado, and in this instance the confidence of the people has not been misplaced. The latest and most striking decision of the Court was rendered this week in the injunction case between Leadville and the Leadville Sewer Company, in which the Court decided that no city can grant perpetual francises to public utility corporations. That Justices Gabbert and Campbell voted against the majority in the decision is no surprise; but thanks to Justices Bailey, Musser, Steele, Hill and White the day of Gabbertism in Colorado has witnessed its suset. We welcome the days of light in place of the years of shadow.

2679	FA	5/5/1911	A Noble Decision - On Monday the Supreme Court of Colorado, by a vote of 5 to 2, declared the consolidation of the City and County of Denver to be legal, thus reversing a former decision of the same court rendered several years ago by Judges Gabbert, Campbell and others. The majority decision was rendered by Justices Bailey, Musser, White, Hill and Garrigues and we are pleased to record that the opinion was written by our old townsman, Morton S. Bailey, now one of the most revered members of the highest court in our state, and a court that is rapidly reclaiming the honor of the state. As might easily be expected Justice Campbell and Gabbert dissented from the majority opinion, but we are pleased to state that one Republican member of the court, Justice Garrigues, of Greely, who was elected by the people last fall, voted with the majority of Democrats. The decision is one of the most important ever rendered in Colorado and is based upon the principle that the people have a right to make their own laws. In the opinion Justice Bailey well stated that "when the whole people speak through a fundamental law or by amendment thereto not in conflict with the federal constitution, all should hear and head, MORE ESPECIALLY THE COURTS." Such doctrine written into law by our state's highest court will make brilliant the name of those writin it as long as there shall be a remembrance of our state and it is with an uusual degree of pride and satisfaction that we note Justice Morton Bailey is one of the moving spirits in making good such basic principles of justice.

2915	T	1913-?	Henry H. Smith, was born on June 25, 1845, in Springfield township, Bradford county, Pa., where he resided a greater part of his life. For about twenty years he resided in Rutland, Tioga county, Pa. His wife was the eldest daughter of Daiel Watson and Lucinda Backer Watson, of Rutland, Pa. Mr. Smith lived a very earnest Christian life, never complaining, although for fifteen years almost entirely helpless, and for the last two years unable to lie down, having to sit in his chair night and day, part of the time suffering terribly, and yet he was never known to murmer, always praising God and thannking Him that he was no worse, and for kind friends to care for him, and up to the very last his faith failed not. He shook hands with every one who came in to see him while he was dying, and asked them to meet him in heaven. Although he could only whisper, he still had the praises of Jesus on his lips. At 10:30 Tuesday a.m., his life went out. It was a beautiful death, showing the power of God to sustain His children, even in the most trying ordeal. The funeral service was preached by the Rev. Mr. Coots, of Berrytown, and the funeral was held from the M.E. church in Big Pond. Mr. Coots text was from Habakkuk 3:18. John Coolbaugh sang two hymns, favorites of Mr. Smith, "His Eye Is On the Sparrow," and "Looking This Way." The ladies in the church had a dinner all prepared in the basement, for the friends who went to the burial, which was in Roseville cemetery, a beautiful resting place for thdead. Mr. Smith is survived by a widow, three children, one grandchild, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn, not for him, but their loss.

Pate, Sacramento capitalist, for whom the Oakland police have been on the lookout since his disappearance was reported by Mrs. H. W. Evans, 839 Portola avenue, Alameda, on February 23, was found in Reno on Wednesday by his step-son, Harry W. Evans. It is believed that confidence men drugged Pate and put him aboard a train bound for Reno, as he was found there in an emaciated condition and penniless. Pate arrived in Oakland from his Sacramento home on the way to Santa Barbara, and registered at the Hotel Oakland on the 5th of February. Some time later he telegraphed his business associates for money and after its receipt nothing was heard from him until he was found on Wednesday. He tells a disconnected tale of having met a stranger on a train boud for Reno. This stranger was with Pate at the time he was found but hurried away after Evans made himself known. Over a year ago Pate sustained a fractured skull and while it is believed that this may have been the cause of his disappeance and queer actions, the police of Reno told Evans that several similar cases had come under their attention in the last few months and it is thought that he may have fallen into the hands of persons who drugged and robbed him. The police of Oakland and Reno are looking into the case.

3147	AT	8/7/1914	BOY SCOUTS ACTIVE IN EUROPE'S CONFLICT - They Capture Spies in Belgium and Guard Bridges in Britain - New York, August 6 - Dispatches from abroad mentioning activity on the part of boy scouts in connection with military operations in the European conflict have led to the belief here that the scouts will play an improtant role in the general war, although their activities will be incidental rather than a part of the campaign. Already dispatches have told of the capture by boy scouts of spies in Belgium, their guarding of British bridges and the plans of scouts to assist in harvesting crops. There are approximately 350,000 boy scouts in Europe, divided as follows: Great Britain, 200,000; Germany, 50,000; France, 8,000; Austria-Hungary, 15,000; Russian Poland, 8,000; Servia, 4,000; Scandinavia, 30,000; scattered, 35,000. England was the pioneer in the movement. Essentially an organization working for peace, there is nothing in its teachings that would discourage the taking up of arms in self-defense. Ludvig S. Dale, an authority on the movement, said today, in this connection: "It should be rememberd that though we are against war, we are not, therefore, against self-defense. It follows that every patriotic scout, should necessity arise, would respond to his country's call for such aid as he might be able to render." By their training in signal work and drills, Mr. Dale thought, older members of the boy scouts would be of great value to military officers as attendants, orderlies and messengers. Whatever part they might play in such roles, however, would be in their individual capacities, and not as boy scouts, but simply as young men well trained for the duties required of them.

Deputy Sheriff Duquett brought the offender into Justice Rose's court where the complaint was read to him and he was asked to plead thereto. Upon his plea of guilty the court required him to pay a fine of $10.00 or be confined in the county jail for 15 days. He was give all day in which to produce the fine, and instead of telling his father the fine was $10.00 he told him he had been fined $30.00. The next day his brother, Clifford, came into court, and when the judge took exception to the mistatements made by his brother he told the court that if he was a younger man, he would invite him into the street. The next remains for you to guess what might have happened, had not the judge of this vicinity established the custom of using less barbarous methods of quieting such disputes. Down came the gavel with a $5.00 fine for contempt of court. One hour was allowed the would-be pugilist to produce the fine. Later he appeared before the court and humbly apologized for his rash statements in a gentlemanly manner and his charge was released by the court.

Wants the Advertiser Sent to Him There. - Leutesdorf on the Rhine, Jan. 3, 1919. Mr. E. S. Coles, Mansfield, Pa. - Dear Sir: I am over here in Germany on the Rhine now and just received three papers from home today, and needless to say they were certainly welcome. I do not know how long I will be over here, but wish you would send the paper until I get back to the States. I was some surprised in reading the papers that so many boys from home are over here. The 9th and 23rd infantry are near us somewhere and the 15th field artillery are up on the Rhine a short distance, but I have never happened to see Leo Bailey or Rusty Hitchcock of the 9th or crossley of the 15th field artillery, but I could probably have found them before if I had known they were with the 2nd division. For they were usually somewhere near the marines when they were away from the front lines and besides them on the lines. I got over in time to see what war was like and did not expect to see the Leutesdorf, which is about the same population as Mansfield, but not as large other ways. The people here treat us fine, we have electric lights, a good stove and a good dry place to sleep, also good chow and the drill is not hard, but when we are through over here, the beauty of the Rhine Valley will not have charms enough to keep me here, and the little Tioga Valley will look better than it ever did before. Hoping to hear from you often through the paper, I remain, Respectfully yours, Pvt. Ross B. Bailey, 97th Co. 6th Marines, Amer. E. F.

Having reached young manhood, he began his life career by teaching school; altogether he taught seven terms. Realizing the need of a more elaborate preparation, he attended Westfield College for about three years. At the age of twenty years Dr. Stoltz was united in marriage to Miss Perna M. Emerick. Six children were bor to grace their home, four sons and two daughters, as follows: Frank Foster, (deceased) Warner E., Charles B., Roscoe R., Mrs. Matilda Spelbring, wife of Ed Spelbring, of Westfield, and Mrs. Mabel Paulene Mooney, wife of Bernard Mooney, of Washington D. C. Dr. Stoltz beleived his calling in life was that of the medical college, at St. Louis, MO., and after three years completed his course. He entered upon the practice of medicine at Sumner, ILL., in 1890. Since then he has practiced at Janesville, Westfield, and Casey. Dr. Stoltz was a man with ideas decidedly his own. He was an independent thinker regardless of creed or sect and held out strongly for his views as he saw them. Those who knew him best, knew him to be a generous man. He was liberal with his friends and during all of his career as a practitioner, he sought to be just in his treatment of the poor. They made few appeals, if any, for medical aid that he did not answer. His intimate acquaintances knew him to be a kind-hearted man. He loved his children as loved his own life and ever sought to administer for their comfort and physical welfare.

In 1865 the family moved to Mansfield, where Mr. Kingsley purchased the tannery, which was run by himself and his son, Charles, for many years, and later became the property of the subject of this sketch. Charles Kingsley conducted the tannery until a few years ago, when it was abandoned and Mr. Kingsley retired from business. Among his other business interests he owned the New Era MIlls for many years. He was always oe of the valued and substantial citizens of Mansfield and had a great deal to do with building up the town, says the Advertiser. Besides various interests in the town, he was a director of the Merchants National Bank in Elmira for many years. He served two enlistments during the civil war and was an active member of the G. A. Bailey, field artillery, who is well known to most Atlantans as the recruiting officer for the southeastern district, has received orders to report for duty in Boston, Mass, as inspector-instructor of the artillery units of the Massachusetts national guard. Mr. Bailey has been stationed in Atlanta since his return to America from the war. He was cited for bravery five times, three at Chateau Thierry, one at St. Mihiel and one at Solssons. He was in command of an artillery brigade which supported the advance of the marines at Chateau Thierry when the first official entrance of American units was reported from the war zone. Major Bailey first came to Atlanta in 1915, holding the same position as that upon which his new duties will take him. He was in charge of inspections and training of all field artillery units of the Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana national guards. It was during his service in this position that he met Mrs. Bailey, who was before her marriage Miss Rosalie Davis, daughter of Charles A. Davis, 1125 Peachtree street. "Atlanta is the finest city in the country," Major Bailey said Saturday. "It is with deep regret that I leave it, for it has become my home. The people are the best in the world and have a spirit that is certain to make it one of the largest in the country in time. It is a wonderful place to live, and in leaving I want to voice my appreciation for the co-operation which has been extended me in my work here during the time that I have been stationed here. The newspapers have assisted us greatly in making the Atlanta office responsible for the largest number of recruits consistently in the reports." Major Bailey will leave Atlanta early this week for his new station in Boston. He is spending the few remaining days of his stay here telling friends good-by, but promises to return on frequent visits. Mrs. Bailey will remain in the city until Major Bailey has become settled in his new station.

Lewis Bullard died at her home on Water street last Friday morning, aged 86 years. She had been in failing health for some months past and, while the end was not unexpected, it came nevertheless with a distinct shock to her friends and relatives. The deceased was born in Covington township April 15, 1835, daughter of the late Rankin and Sophia A. Lewis, a family prominent in the professional and business life of Pennsylvania for many years. Rankin Lewis, the deceased's cousin, was a leading light in the legal profession of the State and later served as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court for many years. Thus associated with a family who were foremost in all the imortant activities of the time, the deceased was possessed with a fund of interesting information dealing with the early history of this community, which was a source of great pleasure to those privileged to hear it related. The decedent was married to Massena Bullard, May 9th, 1854, to which were born four children, Sophia and Lewis, both now deceased, and Helen and Frank J., surviving. She is also survived by the following grandchildren: Mrs. H. W. Gaithier, Harry M. Seeley, Mrs. Sarah K. Seeley, Mrs. John E. Towner, Fred G. Seeley and Lewis S. Seeley, of New York city; Mrs. Charles Erway, Mrs. Leon B. Cameron and Robert A. Conevery, of Wellsboro; Landrus and Ellen Bullard, of Hagerstown, Md. The deceased was a woman of sterling worth, charitable, kindly and benign of nature, always eager to do everything in her power to bring good cheer and comfort to those about her, observing in her everyday life those oft neglected amenities of friendship, which in the aggregate bring to the one who practices them the love and loyalty of all. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. J. W. Torkington, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of which deceased was a member, officiating; interment in the Wellsboro cemetery.

3862	WEG	11/3/1921	Wellsboro Boy Highly Honored. Frank R. Bailey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Bailey, of this borough, has been highly honored by being elected president of the Sophomore Class of 1924 of the Pensylvania University. "The Pennsylvanian," a daily published in the interest of the University by a staff of writers composed of students, printed a portrait of our young townsman last Saturday together with the following brief sketch of his rapid progress as a student: "Frank R. Bailey, '24 White, was elected president of the Sophomore Class by a substantial majority. He is a product of the Wellsboro (Pa.) High School. He was a Freshman representative on the Wharton Association; a member of the Red and Blue board; chairman of Sophomore Vigilance Committee, Phi Delta Thea Fraternity." The honor of being elected president of the Class of 1924 of the University of Pennsylvania is an honor worthily bestowed on a young man of real merit. Frank Bailey is a live wire and has no conscientious scruples against manual labor. During the vacation or summer periods of the past two years he has demonstrated what he is made of by shedding his aristocratic manners and buckling in as a day loborer - anything he could do. Last year he worked on the State highway with a pick and shovel and during the summer just closed he conducted one of "Billy" Smith's ice wagons. That's the kind of a boy Frank Bailey is.

He was also postmaster at Mansfield for two terms. In the fall of 1890 he was elected County Commissioner, and moved his family to Wellsboro the following spring. 3937	C	10/26/1922	FIRE DESTROYS BURLEY RESIDENCE - A very destructive fire, and one attended with unusually regrettable circumstances, took place at about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Burley was burned to the ground. The house was one of the best in town, but aside from the matter of loss, an even sadder circumstance was that Mr. Burley, who had been seriously ill for a number of weeks, had to be carried from his burning home to the home of a neighbor where he was cared for temporarily. The fire was discovered by Mrs. George Hathley who, at the time, was on her way down town. As nearly as can be judged, the fire originated from a spark which came from a chimney and found lodgement in the roof, burning its way through and setting a second story room on fire. This seems to have been the case, because when the stairway door was opened, immediately after the discovery of the fire, one of the upper rooms was found to be completely in flames. The fire department responded promptly, but the fire had gained such headway that the chemical outfit was wholly inadequate to control it and for some reason water was not immediately available. Several children and neighbors did valiant service in saving the household effects on the first floor, but all of the goods on the second story, including most of Mr. and Mrs. Burley's clothing and nearly all of the bedding in the house, was destroyed. Claude Rose, who had been making his home in the Burley household for a number of months and whose room was on the second floor, lost all of his clothing and personal effects, including mementoes of his trips to various parts of the country, none of which, as a matter of course, can be replaced. The loss on the house and contents, over and above the insurance of $4,500, which we understand was carried, must be considerable.

3979	WEG	5/24/1923	DEATH OF EDITOR FRANK CONEVERY - Publisher of Gazette for Over 46 Years, Passed away Last Wednesday Night- (The following article was contributed by a friend who has for some years been close to the deceased, both in a business and social sense. We do not think it unseemly that it be published in the columns of this paper which the departed brought to a plane of perfection that his successors can hardly hope to maintain.) Frank Conevery, for 46 years the editor and publisher of this paper, died at his home on Water street last Wednesday night, aged 67 years, death coming as the culmination of an illness extending over a period of nearly a year. Possessed of a naturally vigorous constitution and with brave fortitude he fought the onward rush of the ravaging disease that was wasting away his body and mind, and only resigned himself to its overwhelming power when the resulting loss of vitality sapped his ebbing strength to such an extent that he could no longer force his body to respond to his will. Last October saw his last visit to the editorial sanctum, it becoming his home rather than be burdened with the multiplicity of detail that always obtains in a newspaper office. But, while he relinquishes the office work to other hands, he continued to be the real directing head of the publication, preparing copy, reading exchanges and always planning new and better things in the interest of his paper. The deceased was born at Bath, N.Y., July 16, 1855, and his people for half a century had been residents of Steuben county. Mr. Conevery's ealy education was acquired at the old Haverling Academy at Bath, but when but 14 years old he became a printer's apprentice, and completed his trade in 1872, in the Bath Advocate office. During the next two years he worked as a journeyman printer in the Advocate office, the Buffalo Courier and other papers. In the fall of 1874 he took charge of the mechanical department of the Hammodsport Herald, continuing until April, 1877, when he came to Wellsboro . . .

4178	C	11/12/1925	A FINE RELIC - The piece of tree from the petrified forest of Arizona which we had been expecting to receive from Wm. Rose, has arrived and is now on display in the front windows of this office. Its delay in reaching us was explained when the expressman delivered it and we found it to weigh about 25 pounds. Our friend "Bill" carried that big piece of rock from Arizona clear to California and from there had it sent to us at a cost of more than three dollars for express charges. That's what we call a real tribute of friendship and incidentally an exhibition of sympathy with our weakness for "relics." We want to say, however, that it isi the most beautiful specimen of its kind we have ever seen outside the national museum at Washington. It is a foot long, six inches square, and is of solid vari-colored agate showing the shape of the tree and the grain of the wood perfectly. Our sincere thanks are hereby extended to brother Bill.

4190	P	3/9/1926	RONALD PORRITT, 15, SHOOTS SELF; MOTIVE UNKNOWN - SEYMOUR LAKE BOY DIES IN GOODRICH HOSPITAL - YOUTH IS FOUND IN FIELD - ORTONVILLE, March 9, - Ronald Porritt, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Porritt of near Seymour Lake, died yesterday at 8 p.m. in Goodrich Hospital of a self-inflicted gunshot wound through the breast. Porritt shot himself purposely, it is thought, but no motive for the shooting was given today by the parents. The lad, who was a student in the 11th grade of Clarkston High School, was found in a field about a half mile from his parent's home at 7 p.m. by his brother, Edward. The boy was semi-conscious. Asked why he did it, he gasped: "I don't know," and lost consciousness while on the way to the hospital. Search for Ronald began after it was learned he did not go to the home of Miss Gladys Sherwood, a mile across the fields, to take a music lesson. When the boy did not return home in the evening, his parents telephoned Miss Sherwood and learned that he did not come there. The revolver which was beside the dying boy when he was found was one that had been in the Porritt home. Funeral services will be held at the home of the parents Thursday at 1 p.m. Burial will be made at Orion. Surviving are the parents and three brothers, Marvin, Edward and Harvey, all at home. Ronald was next to the oldest.

As Bill and his estimable wife, who made the trip with him, have many friends and acquaintances in this section, we are printing below a portion of the letter he sent us on his arrival in Michigan: Argentine, April 6, 1926 - Dear Friends: Well, here we are back in dear old Michigan, after an absence of over six months and we're glad to get back in what I call God's country. We had a wonderful trip and saw a lot of California but there's no place like dear old Michigan, with all her faults. When we left Burbank we drove over the Pacific Highway to Portland, Oregon, and then over the Columbia Highway to Boise, Idaho. Here we left my son, Max, and came the rest of the way by rail. I am sending P.O. order to renew The Clio Messenger. With kindest regards, William Rose.

The main chimney of the club house burned out and a stop was blown out of the flue in an up-stairs room, the smoke and soot damaging the room, but fortunately no fire resulted, because of the quick action of Mrs. Louis Grosjean, who discovered the fire before it had attained much headway. She was alone in the house and when she went up stairs she found flames coming from the hole in the chimney and the rooms filled with smoke. She siezed a fire extinguisher and soon had the fire out, but she was painfully burned o the hands, face and chest by the acid from the extinguisher and was nearly overcome by the smoke.

She died at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night at Sheltering Arms Hospital, where she was taken following the accident. Attending doctors ascribe the death to shock and internal injuries. Mrs. Oberholzer's deafness was probably the cause for the accident. She was walking unconcerned along the track and seemingly did not hear the approaching train. The passenger engine hit her on the shoulder, picker her up and threw her in the air for possibly twwenty feet, witnesses say. She fell on her head and shoulders and was unconscious when picked up. She was immediately placed on the train and brought to Athens where an ambulance awaited her. She was in shock when brought into the hospital and her condition was too weak to allow an examination. She was treated for shock but died before physicians could learn the full extent of the injuries. Mrs. Oberholzer is a sister to Dr. A. J. Learned, Millfield. She has been a widow for three years. Her husband, William Oberholzer, committed suicide three years ago by hanging himself in the stairway of his home, after a period of ill health. No children were born to the couple. 4256	WEA	11/24/1926	The Atlanta Georgian says "Delightful among visitors here are the Benjamin Martin Baileys, who have come back from Major Bailey's most recent detail at Governor's Island, New York, to spend several weeks with Rosalie Davis' (Mrs. Bailey's) parents, the Charles A. Davises, on Peachtree street. A gratifying semblance of duration is given the visit by the placing of their young son in school here. One was impressed by the very genuine and generous compliment which 'Mart Bailey' bestowed upon his lovely wife, the former belle in Atlanta society. It was to the effect that Rosalie Davis' charming address and sincerity of manner were an asset to any man in whatever walk of life. Major Bailey, on the staff of General Summerall, detailed recently to Washington, is making his first visit among us for six years past. Although Rosalie has been with us meanwhile, both Major and Mrs. Bailey are receiving the most cordial welcome from their many friends." Major Bailey was detailed to represent Major General Summerall, Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army at the lucheon and reception given Queen Marie, and the following letter written by Queen Marie, was placed in the hands of Major Bailey, to be sent to Governor Walker at Atlanta. "Georgia. The county of wonderful pines and commerce. To which we owe so much all over the world. Who has not heard of that beautiful name, Atlanta. The wonders of the new world in America as created by man, appear before our minds' eye when we think of Georgia. I am enthusiastic to know you and to tell you how I love you for what you have done in your tremendous achievements towards winning the victory to bring peace to the world."

4287	C	4/21/1927	Rose - The many friends of the family residing in this vicinity will be pained to learn of the death of Mrs. William Rose, which occurred at her home in Burbank, California, on April 26, 1927. She had been in failing health for a year or more, having been afflicted with cancer and anemia. She was born in Davisburg, Oakland county, Michigan, August 1, 1861, the daughter of Edward and Mary Ann Hollister, and on September 6, 1888, was united in marriage to William Rose of Clio, to whom she had been a loving, helpful and dutiful companion for all of the ensuing years. No words of ours can be eloquent enough to pay adequate tribute to the devtion and to the matchless services of the splendid wife and mother who is gone. No words of ours can portray the tenderness in which her memory will be cherished by her neighbors and friends. Suffice it to say that the bereavement which all of these must feel there will creep the constant and deeply comforting influence of the memory of her pure and loyal life. This is one of the beneficial phases of immortality. Mr. and Mrs. Rose were the parents of four children, Emmon and Hazel, who died in infancy, and Claud T. Rose and William M. Rose both of whom reside in Burbank. She is also survived by her husband, an old resident of this place, to whom the sympathy of the people of this vicinity will go out in fullest measure. Funeral services were held at the late home of the deceased in Burbank and her remains were interred in the cemetery at that place, it being her wish that she might rest near the homes of her children.

When the Pridgeon home was built on the southeast corner of Woodward avenue and Alrfed street, it was the center of the most fashionable section of the city. There were no stores in the neighborhood, and hotels in the district, were unthinkable. A fashionable boarding house was later established on the west side of Woodward avenue, not far from Alfred street and here was the forerunner of what might be termed Detroits's first exclusive family hotel - though the place was called a mere boarding house in the old days. The lumber and interior trim of the Pridgeon home is undoubtedly the pick of Michigan's famous timber lands, as are the interiors of many of the old Woodward avenue mansions.

When a sedan driven by Lee Wilcox, of Wellsbor, stalled on the Pennsylvania avenue crossing on the Erie Railroad in Elmira Saturday afternoon, it was struck and demolished by Erie Special, No. 2, eastbound, but the three occupants of the car escaped with slight injuries. He saw service with the 10th Michigan Cavalry in Ohio, Kentucky, Tennesee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Oklahoma. 4803	W	1939-?-?	The picture you are looking at is that of a pioneer of Sherman township, a man who has the respect of the community, and whose opinions always carry weight. George Pridgeon was born in California township, Branch county, Mich., Aug. 15, 1859. He came to Sherman township in 1879. On May 7, 1882, he was united in marriage to Addie E. McAllister, and in that year a home was built on section 19, where they lived until 1895; then they homesteaded 80 acres directly across the county line in Mecosta county, on section 24 of Sheridan township. Mr. and Mrs. Pridgeon lived there until 1916, selling their farm a year later and moving to Weidman Nov. 20, 1917, where they purchased the George Fisher property. Mr. Pridgeon retired from active work in the fall of 1933. Few men have done active work in their advanced years as has Mr. Pridgeon. He is conservative in politics, and believes that more can be done by hard work and individual planning than can be accomplished by political panaceas. He has never failed to vote dry, or boost for the betterment of schools. We hope to be favored by Mr. Pridgeon's presence and kindly advice for many years.

In March 1926 he married Peggy Pridgeon, a former schoolmate of Sherman Township. They lived in Flint until July 1930, when they moved to Sherman City and George opened up a small repair garage. Within a few months his business had grown to the point where it was necessary for him to have larger quarters and he moved into the Hampton Garage which he still occupies. In addition to his service garage he now has the Gamble Store agency and the Chevrolet Dealership, and with the help of his team-mate, Peggy, he is making great strides towards the success which he deserves. George is a public spirited citizen and is always willing to do his bit in promoting any move for the betterment of our community. Let's give a hearty cheer to George and his helpful wife, Peggy.

5181	GP	6/19/1947	It was natural that Mrs. Fitch should turn to painting as a means of expression, being the daughter of the well known artist, George Hodges, Sr. She grew up in a household that was a gathering place of many artists, and she laughingly remarked that she and her six sisters rarely sat down to read or knit but that some artist would ask them "to hold that pose." Mrs. Fitch studied at the Arts Students League and the National Academy of Design in New York. Among her teachers were Louis Mora, Paul Vincent Dumand and George Bellows. Due to her father and his friends she was greatly influenced by "the old school" of painting. She returned to Detroit with the desire to have a career in commercial art. Her first commission was to design a page to be used in the New York, Chicago and Detroit theatre programs advertising a chemical product. At this point Cupid entered the picture and that was the end of the commercial art career. Mrs. Fitch says that she knows that she would never have been a great artist and that her career as a wife and mother has been so much more worthwhile that she has never regretted her decision to give up commercial art for matrimony. Her five children were the inspiration for many pictures during their growing up period. For the past four years, Mrs. Fitch has been on the board of the Fine Arts section of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters. She is a charter member of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association and some years ago when they exhibited at the Neighborhood Club won several blue ribbons. She has also exhibited her ois, mostly landscapes, in Detroit, Grosse Pointe and Ann Arbor, and has sold several. Mrs. Fitch feels that the greatest progress will be made by putting into practice by painting, one's understanding of the fundamentals of art. During the war she put aside her painting and devoted herself to serving the soldiers. In the spring of 1942 the Grosse Pointe Hostess Corps was formed and Mrs. Fitch was asked to be chairman of the Grosse Pointe area.

Immediately behind and also southbound was a Ford truck, operated by Wilford Fitzgerald, of Washington. Apparently failing to perceive that the two preceding cars were preparing to stop, the Ford plowed into the rear of the Chevrolet, ramming it into the Dodge. State Police were summoned and the two girls, who needed medical attentio, were removed to Frederick Memorial Hospital in the State Police ambulance driven by Sgt. W. A. Corbin. Trooper William A. Mutchner conducted the investigation. Orlena Walkley apparently was injured about the back and Luella received some facial injuries. Both were victims of shock. Trooper Mutchner preferred a charge of driving at a speed greater than reasonable and proper against Fitzgerald, whose Ford truck was damaged to the extent of about $300. 5858	WEA	7/13/1961	Harry Bailey, Member of Expedition Is Excavating Historic Ruins On Island - Harry Bailey, who has been in Europe the past year doing graduate work in Germany and traveling in a number of European countries including two months spent in Spain, is now on the Greek island of Samothrace in the Aegean Sea, often mentioned in Greek mythology. The island covers 71 square miles and has about 4200 people. Ruins found on the island date from 500 BC. In 1863, the famous statue of the Winged Victory of Samothrace was found on the island and is now in the Louvre. Harry is a member of an expedition under the auspices of the New York Institute of Fine Arts which is excavatin the historic ruins. In a recent letter to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bailey, Harry wrote of his trip from Rome to Brindisi and Athens where preparation for the expedition to Samothrace was completed. The group with whom he traveled flew in a prewar airplane to Alexandroupolis, which is only a few miles from Turkey. From there they traveled by caique to Samothrace, a distance of five miles. Harry wrote that Samothrace is unbelievably beautiful. The present excavation is concerned with the sacred area outside the ancient city of Palaiopolis. In previous excavations, many marvelous buildings have been unearthed which were used mainly by the mystery cult that existed in Samothrace and for which the island was famous. He wrote that this is the first year that the island has had electricity and a road (with one truck). With the help of a few wealthy donors, Dr. Lehman, who until his recent death, had been on expeditions to the island since 1938, had built a hotel and a museum o the island. Harry feels this is a "perfect opportunity to learn what an excavation is all about."

Now Wietz, one of America's top designers of men's wear, is coming to the Bay Area (March 28 and 29) to open a John Weitz boutique in Roos Atkins to serve these well-dressed men of the area. We talked to three of the men listed to find out what effect the list had made. Two were touchingly modest. The third, Peter Tripp, was out of town. Dr. Maxwell and Judge Folger Emerson noted they had received some good natured banter from both male and female acquaintances, but both admitted they were pleased they had been named. All three of their wives, however, were in agreemant: the list has affected their men, who are now visibly more style conscious. "He has more flair," says Marion Thebaut, who choosed most of her husband's fashion. "He used to shudder when I brought home a suit with side vents, but not anymore." Undine Emerson states, "Folger has always been conservative and very particular about his clothes, but now he seems more aware of color. Since the list there's almost an obligation to be color coordinated at all times. He gives more thought to which tie is worn with which suit.

From a small herd of 12 cows and a horse-drawn vehicle he bottled and delivered milk throughout the near by lake area. Because of poor health, in 1933 he sold his business to his son Edward who continued to service the area and to expand to neighboring communities. As sales increased the milk production of several nearby farms was needed. In 1939 Porritt moved to the present location at 1758 Clarkston Rd. Even though a fire completely destroyed the original wood frame building and all the dairy equipment, Porritt did not miss one delivery after the fire. The Porritt dairy has continued to expand, and several other dairies were purchased in the nearby area. Milk is procured from various farmers in Oakland, Lapeer and Macomb counties and employment has been provided for 35 persons in the area. William "Bill" Porritt, Edward's son, grew up helping his Dad in the dairy. After serving in the army during World War II, he took a course at Michigan State in dairying. Underwood is still i jail, but has neither slept nor eaten a mouthful of food since his arrest. The jail officials and several friends have in vain tried to persuade him to take rest and to eat, but to all their importunities he has but one reply: "My love an't eat no more, and I'll never eat no more too." When Wellsboro was in its infancy in the early 1800's this home was built by Massena Bullard. The first known records at the Tioga Court House show transfer of deed in 1883 after the death of Massena Bullard to his wife Maryette A. Bullard and with Frank Conevery as the administrator. Records show that on July 28, 1903 transfer of ownership was made by Maryette Bullard to her daughter, Helen Bullard Conevery, wife of Frank Conevery. The next transfer of ownership according to Court records came in November, 1944 when Robert Austin Conevery and his wife Aldine Daggett Conevery purchased the house from Mary Conevery Cameron who had inherited an half ownership of the property following the death of their mother, Helen Bullard Conevery. Following the death of her husband in May, 1960, Mrs. Robert A. Conevery became the sole owner of the house.

In most cases, the person called upon is Moonyeen Fitch. The Fitch family has been heavily involved at the church for years, with much of Moonyeen's time devoted to the church choir. "Basically, I've been involved with the choir for 20 years now," said Mrs. Fitch. "My husband sang in it, as well as four of my children. I serve as the liason between the choirmaster and the parents." She makes it all sound a lot easier than it really is. She also takes care of the choir's vestments, designs costumes for the church operettas, drives the kids in the choir everywhere and also finds time to raise money for the choir via the church's one big fundraiser for the year. Oh yes, she's also a registered nurse, mother and wife and serves on the Episcopal Church Womens Board. "Well, I guess I do it because I love it," Mrs. Fitch said. "Maybe it goes back to my nursing background. I like helping people. I always have."

6560	LO	3/11/1992	for nearly 20 years the Moshier family in Oxford Township has been growing and selling sod. They're known for it. Their farm, Baldwin Meadows has been producing sod for sale since 1972. The last few years they moved more heavily into the landscaping portion of the business (sod's still for sale -- as a matter of fact they'll have 45 acres ready as soon as there's a thaw). "I've always been a landscaper," Mike Moshier says, "but, I've only been growing shrubs and trees for about the past five years." Currently he has about 3,000 growing. The sod farm was "officially" started in 1973 by Mike's father, Wayne Moshier. Wayne still owns the company, but Mike now manages it. The majority of the 200 acres out at Baldwin Meadows has been i their family since Mike's great grandfather bought it from the government during the big homesteading era of the 1800s. The Moshiers were able to keep their ancestors' land in the family and make a living from that land with Baldwin Meadows. Their full-service landscape and nursery business is weathering the recession well and they're looking forward to spring. "i have a good feeling. People are putting more into their homes this year. I also think the quality of our work will keep us busy. We do pay attention to detail and quality. If we didn't there wouldn't be a demand for our services," Mike says. As a matter of fact, the Moshiers are looking for a job foreman -- Mike says the increasing workload called for the additional position. Currently there are four full-time workers and three part-timers. Baldwin Meadows is one of the few growers in the area of topsoil-base quality sods. They offer topsoil, mulching, landscape design services; paver brick walks, retaining walls, sod, trees and shrubs. They give free estimates and quanity discounts. New this year to the Moshier family is the addition of a baby girl born to Mike and his wife Lorie. The baby is also Wayne and Nancy Moshier's first grandchild.

6561	LO	3/11/1992	Heckle & Jeckle's, just a 'mom and pop' store - in 1956 when Bruce A. French, Sr., graduated from Oxford High School, little did he know he'd come to own a business in the Village of Oxford. His grandfather Harlen used to take care of the Oxford Fire Department horses and his dad, James, lived his entire live on the same block in Oxford. Bruce may not have thought about coming back in 1956, but he eventually did. French bought Heckle & Jeckle Party Shop in June of 1989. "I had a pop store in Lake Orion, I saw an ad in the paper that this store was for sale, that's how I got here," he says. As a kid, growing up in Oxford, French used to be a stock boy at the Cadillac Market. "I never thought I'd get into this. When I got out of the Army I went into the restaurant business and then the vending business. I do enjoy this. I try to keep it a mom and pop place," he says. Heckle & Jeckle's sells beer, wine, ice, milk, bread pop, Koegel lunch meats, pastries, aspirins, hot sandwiches -- a little bit of everything. They also sell newspapers, magazines and Michigan Lottery tickets. it's been a slow process, but, French says, little by little he's sprucing the place up. This year he'd like to get at the back and front facades. French also has an ice business. While he's out delivering Cathy Crosby, his manager, tends the store. "I hate to say it," he says smiling, "but, she's done a very good job. She's my right-hand man." French's daughter Cinamon helps run the store when she can, and Bob Sloan takes cares of the night shift. Rounding out the employee list is Beth Swenson. Heckle & Jeckle's is open seven days a week; Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 2 a.m. and Sunday from 10 to midnight. Their phoe number is 628-6933.

6573	NY	11/20/1992	Dorothy Walker Bush, the mother of President Bush, died shortly after 5 P.M. yesterday at the family's house in Greenwich, Conn., after suffering a stroke. She was 91 years old. Mrs. Bush died barely five hours after President Bush returned to Washington from Greenwich, where he had flown early today with his daughter Dorothy Koch, to be at his Mother's bedside. The President had slipped quietly from Washington at 8:35 A.M. today for the trip to Greenwich, traveling on a small Air Force C-20 jet and in an eight-car motorcade instead of in a Boeing 747 and with the retinue of aides and Secret Service agents that normally accompany him on every trip out of town. He returned to the White House at 12:55 P.M. and made no public appearances for the rest of the day. Barbara Bush did not accompany her husband to Connecticut but stayed in Washington to greet President-elect Bill Clinton's wife, Hillary, and to attend ceremonial duties. The White House said that Mr. Bush was told by telephone of his mother's death by his sister, Nancy Ellis of Lincoln, Mass., immediately after it occurred. Both he and Barbara Bush will attend funeral services Monday morning in Greenwich, aides said. A few hours after Mrs. Bush died, Mr. Clinton called the President to offer his condolences, Mr. Clinton's office said. "She was a remarkable woman, whom Hillary, Chelsea and I had the good fortune to meet in Maine several years ago," Mr. Clinton said, adding that the Bush family is "in our thoughts and prayers." Mr. Bush has described his mother as instilling in him a sense of competitiveness and of loyalty. Most of all, he said, she taught him not to take himself too seriously. She was a disciplinarian who took pains to see that her children were not spoiled, despite the family's good fortune. Family values, he said, included a sense of social service and an abhorrence of self-aggrandizement.

6651	SEA	4/5/1997	GREGORY A. FALLS, ACT FOUNDER AND PERFORMING ARTS PIONEER, DIES AT 75 - Gregory A. Falls, who founded A Contemporary Theatre more than three decades ago and devoted most of his life to making the theater arts blossom in Seattle, has died at the age of 75. Falls, a true performing arts pioneer and well-regarded leader for his numerous contributions to American theater, ardently believed the measure of any great city must include a flourishing and dooperative theater community. he had a favorite saying, " Theaters are like grapes, they grow in bunches." Today, a large "bunnch" exists in Seattle, and that, said Bathhouse Theatre artistic director Arne Zaslove, can largely be credited to Falls. "He was the impresario of bringing it all together. He's probaly most responsible for the theater boom in this town," Zaslove said yesterday. Falls had been ACT's artistic director for 23 years when he retired in 1988 due to early indications of Alzheimer's disease. He was admitted to a Seattle hospital earlier this week for pneumonia an died Thursday. It seems odd now, but when Falls founded ACT in the summer of 1965, two years after the Seattle Repertory Theatre opened, there were ample naysayers who doubted the city could support a second theater. "People argues against it," Fall's wife, jean Burch Falls, recalled in an interview last year. "They, quite logically, were thinking, 'We've already got a perfectly good theater!' It was like one symphony is enough, one museum is enough, one ballet, one opera and so on." But Falls saw a theatrical niche that could and needed to be filled. The Rep produced predominantly classical plays during fall and winter months. So, Falls reasoned, why not offer contempoarary productions durinng summer months? Falls was also instrumental in helping other theaters get their start, including Empty Space and Intiman."He was a gentle gentleman, a gifted theater man and theater teacher," Peter Donnelly, president of the Corporate Council for the Arts, said yesterday.

Jacobs Co., which manufactured sheet metal and body parts, and the Holley Carburetor Co., where he worked on accounts for Ford Motor Co. He eventually became general sales manager of the Autolite Division of Ford Motor in 1961. Mr. Stroh remained with the compay for 26 years in the Ford Parts and Service Division, before retiring in 1985.
